Died After Welcoming His Boys Home to Columbus.

HE WAS A HERO OF EL CANEY.

Led the Seventeenth Regulars Up the Hill and Received Three Wounds-The Excitement of the Great Demonstration Evidently Too Much For the Officer.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Brigadier General J. T. Haskell, U. S. A., dropped dead at the barracks yesterday afternoon. The excitement of the day, incident to the return of the Seventeenth infantry, brought on heart failure.

Yesterday morning the Seventeenth regiment returned home and General Haskell went to the depot in a carriage to welcome his gallant men. He rode at the head of the regiment, and the cheers of the immense crowds were directed almost as much to him individually as to the regiment. At the reviewing stand the crowd surrounded the carriage and flowers were fairly showered into the vehicle.

Although not as strong as formerly, General Haskell appeared rugged, and General Haskell appeared rugged, and his sudden death was a terrible shock. About 1:30 p. m. Captain Clay called at General Haskell's residence to pay his respects. They had been engaged in conversation about five minutes when General Haskell suddenly started to his feet, clasping his hands to his head, then fell to the floor. Mrs. Haskell was prostrated by her husband's death. Two constants in the start of the start sons survive him.

When Colonel Poland was appointed Brigadier General at the outbreak of the war General Haskell as lieutenant colonel assumed command of the Seventeenth United States infantry and led that regiment in the battle of El Caney, in which he distinguished himself for bravery. He led the regiment through the succession of barbed wire fences that surrounded the blockhouses at El Caney until he was shot. First a bullet struck his right shoe, grazing his heel. Then he was shot in the left shoulder. Then he received a bullet in his knee. General Haskell lay the remainder of the day on the firing line, such attention being given to his wounds as the improvised hospital service provided. For his bravery at El Caney, Colonel Haskell was recently promoted to brigadier general.

NEEDED NO MORE MEN.

This the Cheering News General Otis Sent Based on Then Existing Conditions at Manila.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.-Two dispatches were received from General Otis, dated Manila, Sept. 16, 1898, and were made public yesterday.

In one he said that based upon present indications, no further force was required. Insurgent leaders in politics and army were in excitable frame of mind, but better portion was amenable to reason.

In another dispatch, he said msurgents had evacuated Manila, except small force in one outlying district. No difficulty was anticipated and he had made no concessions. They expressed strong desire to maintain friendly intercourse with the United States govern-ment. They organized a congress, Thursday, at Malolas to form a plan of government.

A large force was policing and cleaning the city. Trade and commerce were active. Treasury receipts since Aug. 14, $540,000 Mexican current money; monthly expenses, about $350,000; nearly one-half required to subsist 13,000 Spanish prisoners.

United States laws applied for admission of Chinese and opium; sale of licenses for lotteries and other pastimes opposed by public morals discontinued.

The Manila dispatches stating that Aguinaldo had assembled all of the Filapprehension to war department offi-cials, as they felt satisfied that the opportunity for a real crisis was past when Aguinaldo removed his forces from the suburbs of Manila. So long as the American forces in and about Manila are left untrammeled there is no disposition to restrict Aguinaldo in holding meetings of his followers outside of the immediate field of American operations.

DENBY MAY SERVE.

Talked of as a Possible Member of the Commission to Investigate the War Department.

Washington, Sept. 17 .- The expectation was yesterday that Hon. Charles administration, who suggest that it is Denby, ex-minister to China, would accept the president's invitation to become a member of the commission which is to investigate the conduct of the war department during the war with Spain. This, with the other persons who have practically indicated their willingness to serve, makes six in all, the remaining five being Messrs. Howell, Sexton, Keen, Dodge and Gil-man. Aguinaldo Professes to Believe That the Americans Will Now Leave Manila.

Manila, Sept. 17.—The Philippine national assembly was inaugurated at Malolos Thursday with great enthusiasm. Aguinaldo convened the assembly. He was received with cheers and with cries of "viva America."

Later, in an interview, Agninaldo declined to discuss the American army and protested his undying gratitude to the Americans. He said they had come to the Philippines to fight the Spaniards only, and now that they had finished the task, it was expected that they would return to America.

He was unwilling to believe that the Americans would demand a reward for an act of humanity, and he declined to admit the necessity of a quid pro quo.

Governor Budd Declared He Would Not Grant Extradition on Present Papers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The proceedings in the Botkin extradition case were resumed yesterday before Governor Budd. The governor rather indignantly questioned the right of Delaware officials to send papers to this state when the laws of Delaware require absolute proof of the guilt of an accused person pefore that state will permit of extradision from that state.

The governor declared that he would not grant extradition papers upon the show made by the Delaware authorities, unless the papers in the case were absolutely perfect, which property he denied were possessed by the papers now before him.

Being Assembled For Occupation of Porto Rico and Cuba.

WISH TO TAKE NO CHANCES.

pacials of War Department Do Not Intend to Send Troops to Cuba Until After Unhealthy Season Has Passed. Say Trouble Is Not Feared.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 .- The military movements are being directed rapidly toward the assembling of a large army in southern stations for winter camps and preparatory to the military occupation of Cuba and Porto Rico. About 70,000 troops are now located in the south and orders will be issued and others have been issued sending more south.

The major part of the army thus assembled is destined for service in Cuba, with a much smaller force for Porto Rico and a reserve in the winter camps. It is not the intention, however, to send the army of occupation to Cuba until after the unhealthy season has passed and meanwhile the troops are intended to be put in the best possible condition.

On account of the desire of the war department that no chances shall be taken in the way of exposure of the troops to the dangers of the unhealthy season no impatience is felt on account of the rather slow progress of the work of the commission of evacuation at Havana. Great satisfaction is expressed ipinos at Maiolos was said to give no at the progress being made in Porto apprehension to war department offi-Rico, and the evacuation is expected to occur speedily; but in connection with the occupation of Porto Rico the same anxiety as to the health of the army is felt, nor are there similar difficulties in connection with establishing the government, Porto Rico becoming at once a part of the territory of the United States.

In assembling and organizing the army for the occupation of Cuba the consideration of possible trouble with the organized insurgents is not being taken into serious account. The Havana dispatches stating that there has developed a strong sentiment in favor of independence and opposition to an-nexation, coupled with hostility toward the United States, is read with rather an air of amusement by officials of the absurd to give as a reason ic on the part of Cubans toward the United States that the Cubans are in favor of entire independence. The purpose of the Cubans to establish a stable independent form of government is strictly in accordance with the terms of the president's proclamation, and, therefore, furnishes no reason for a feeling of

THE DISMEMBER D WOMAN.

Body Found Near Bridgeport, Conn., Identified as Miss Perkins of Middleboro, Mass.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 17 .- As a result of yesterday's developments there seems to be almost no doubt that the woman, whose dismembered body was found early in the week in the Yellow mill pond, was Grace Marian Perkins of Middleboro, Mass. Miss Perkins left Middleboro about three weeks ago, presumably with one Charles Bourne, a young man of the town, and since that time all trace of her has been lost. The police here have been making efforts to locate Bourne. The police are eager to ascertain the whereabouts of Dr. "Nancy" Guilford. The New Haven county jailer has come across three articles of clothing formerly owned by Dr. Gill, husband of Nancy Gilford, and once an inmate of the jail, on each of which it is stated, appears the fateful characters "G, 51, which were also upon a piece of a man's undergarment in one of the bundles which was found in the mill pond.

ARMY IN THE SOUTH.

Being Assembled For Occupation of Porto Rico and Cuba.

pacials of War Department Do Not In tend to Send Troops to Cuba Until After Unhealthy Season Has Passed. Say Trouble Is Not Feared.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 .- The military movements are being directed rapidly toward the assembling of a large army in southern stations for winter camps and preparatory to the military occupation of Cuba and Porto Rico. About 70,000 troops are now located in the south and orders will be issued and others have been issued sending more south.

The major part of the army thus assembled is destined for service in Cuba, with a much smaller force for Porto Rico and a reserve in the winter camps. It is not the intention, however, to send the army of occupation to Cuba until after the unhealthy season has passed and meanwhile the troops are intended to be put in the best possible condition.

On account of the desire of the war department that no chances shall be taken in the way of exposure of the troops to the dangers of the unhealthy season no impatience is felt on account of the rather slow progress of the work of the commission of evacuation at Havana. Great satisfaction is expressed at the progress being made in Porto Rico, and the evacuation is expected to occur speedily; but in connection with the occupation of Porto Rico the same anxiety as to the health of the army is felt, nor are there similar difficulties in connection with establishing the government, Porto Rico becoming at once a part of the territory of the United States.

In assembling and organizing the army for the occupation of Cuba the consideration of possible trouble with the organized insurgents is not being taken into serious account. The purpose of the Cubans to establish a stable independent form of government is strictly in accordance with the terms of the president's proclamation, and, therefore, furnishes no reason for a feeling of hostility.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 17 .- As a result of yesterday's developments there seems to be almost no doubt that the woman, whose dismembered body was found early in the week in the Yellow mill pond, was Grace Marian Perkins of Middleboro, Mass.

Miss Perkins left Middleboro about three weeks ago, presumably with one Charles Bourne, a young man of the town, and since that time all trace of her has been lost. The police here have been making efforts to locate Bourne. The police are eager to ascertain the whereabouts of Dr. "Nancy" Guilford. The New Haven county jailer has come across three articles of clothing formerly owned by Dr. Gill, husband of Nancy Gilford, and once an inmate of the jail, on each of which it is stated, appears the fateful characters "G. 51." which were also upon a piece of a man's undergarment in one of the bundles which was found in the mill pond.

HIS PLAN TO DISARM WOULD SUB-

An International Conference on This Matter Would Not Materially Affect the United States—Russia's Abandonment of Chinese Concessions a Test of Sincerity.

Russia's proposal that there shall be a general disarmament of European nations for the reasons that the maintenance of armed forces is becoming a serious economic matter and that it does not secure the end desired was read the other day with much interest in the state, war and navy building, Washington.

Whatever may be the result of the conference, should one be held and anything substantial eventuate therefrom, it is felt that it will not affect the United States in an appreciable degree or extent. A prominent officer of the administration who has had a long acquaintance with the international relations of the United States, speaking of the report, said:

"While the subject of reducing or abandoning altogether the armaments of the powers of Europe has been discussed from time to time within the past half century, this is the first tangible, responsible proposition that has been made to the world, and as such, of course, will attract wide attention and discussion. So far as I know, our government has had absolutely no previous intimation on the subject, and, judging from the comments of the European press that have been given to the public, it is as much of a surprise there as here. There is no use or benefit in speculating upon what the conference will do; that is too remote and uncertain

"What do you think is the origin of the proposal?"

"In the absence of any information on the subject, that question, too, is subject only to speculation. But, venturing an opinion, I should say that it was due to Russia's fear that complications in the far east are likely to lead to that outbreak of hostilities which has been looked for ever since the close of the Franco-Prussian war and that she is not in fit condition to go into that conflict. Whatever its origin may be, you can rest assured that its object is for the benefit of Russia."

"According to common report, Russia has for several years been improving her finances. Is she not yet in condition to enable her to enter upon a war if necessary?"

"Nobody outside knows," the officer replied, "just what the financial con dition of Russia is. That information is kept scrupulously within the knowledge of her own officers.

"My belief is that she is burdened ent ability to provide for, a debt built up by the construction of the Transsiberian railway, not yet completed, and other internal improvements. She cannot greatly extend her credit and is in no condition to come into conflict with Great Britain on the seas, and there for two or three years at least the fight must take place. Russia has not yet reached the limit of the period when she must remain at home.

"The sincerity of the proposal, which seems on the surface to be genuine, can best be judged from Russia's response in the conference to the counter proposal that her concession from China to build the Siberian railway to Port Arthur be abandoned."

"Will the proposal affect the United States?"

"I do not think so," was the answer. "We are not as yet seriously concerned regarding the expenditures for the military and naval establishments of the country. Whatever may be the cost of the war and of the responsibilities subsequent thereto, I am satisfied that in ten years from now there will be no vestige of it remaining. With the installation of good government in Cuba and Porto Rico, such as will naturally follow our possession of those islands, they will be a source of much revenue to the United States. Before the hard times set in, and I mean by that prior to the beginning of the Ten Years' war in Cuba and of the gross corruption and oppression that accompanied and followed that outbreak, Cuba paid to Spain $24,000,000 a year revenue. That was in addition to all that was stolen in transit and to all that was paid hangers on sent over from spain to get their living out of the Cubans.

"With decent treatment, fair government and honest dealing Cuba and Porto Rico ought to be worth $50,000,000 a year to this country, and there are the Philippines, about which I say nothing, for their future relation to the United States has not yet been defined. Until that matter is settled and Cuba pacified and tranquilized no proposal affecting the energy or force of the military arm of the United States will have consideration."—Washington Cor. ### NORTH AMERICAN SAINT.

A Late Bishop of Philadelphia May Be Canonized.

The Very Rev. Joseph Wessel of the Order of the Redemptorists is on his way to Rome with documents intended to prove that the virtues and religious zeal of the late John Nepomucene Neumann, bishop of Philadelphia, make him worthy of canonization. If the good bishop be canonized, he will be the only North American saint on the calendar. The only American saint is St. Rose of Lima, who died in 1617 in Peru.

Bishop Neumann was born in Bohemia in 1811. He came to New York in 1866 and was ordained a priest by Bishop Dubois. He did mission work among the Indians, joined the congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer (as the Redemptorist order is designated), and in 1852 was made bishop of Philadelphia. He died in 1860. His religious work was chiefly among children, and it is said he was so untiring in his labors that frequently he would not go to bed, but slept for awhile in a chair.

Two years ago the church sanctioned an inquiry into the life of Bishop Neumann, the first step in the process of canonization, which is slow. Father Wessel was then made postulant of the cause, and he has examined witnesses and laid evidence of Bishop Neumann's sanctity before the court of inquiry, which has held its sessions in Philadelphia. Archbishop Ryan presided over the court, which was made up of priests known as judges and promoters of the faith, who, as the representatives of the holy see, were addressed as most illustrious and most reverend.

This testimony, properly indorsed and authenticated, Father Wessel takes to Rome, where he will lay it before the court that has the power to add names to the calendar of saints. It may be years before this very deliberate court makes its decision concerning Bishop Neumann. And before he will be elevated to sainthood it will be necessary to prove that he worked at least two miracles.—New York World.

William H. Ferris, the oldest resident of Westchester county, N. Y., died at Mount Vernon on a recent morning in his ninety-eighth year.

In his seventeenth year he joined the navy and took part in Porter's expedition to drive pirates out of the southern waters.

On the night of Jan. 1, 1821, his ship overhauled off Havana a pirate craft carrying plunder valued at $250,000. Ferris and ten other men were ordered to board the ship, and after a hard battle, in which Mr. Ferris was wounded, the ship and 200 pirates were sent to the bottom.

Mr. Ferris was also on board the steamboat Etony, which was blown up in New York bay and many passengers killed. He was blown into the water and saved two women from drowning. Ferris was active in his old age, rising every morning at 5 o'clock and walking at least five miles before breakfast. He never wore an overcoat or gloves.

He leaves an estate valued at nearly $500,000.—New York Journal.

That express office at Camp Wikoff is a wonderland, a curio shop on a gigantic scale. But far and away in advance of all else are the eatables and drinkables, in boxes which are commonly labeled. The other day three hungry looking regulars walked past the office and stopped to read the labels.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Sept. 18.
Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M.
Topic, The Wheat and the Tares.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Math. xiii, 24-30; 37-48, "Let both grow together till the harvest."

One of the questions which greatly puzzles many people is, why God should allow so much wickedness in the world and why the evil minded and bad people should be so prosperous. It oftentimes looks as if in business the man who is strictly honest and upright in his dealings has little chance for getting along in competition with those who are dishonest and tricky. How difficult it is for a temperance hotel to be made to pay! What prosperity is enjoyed by the saloon keeper, brewer and distiller! In politics, how impossible it seems for a man to be honest and open! The recent developments in the governmental affairs of our great cities and in the political management of New York and Pennsylvania are disheartening to all who love right and purity.

Nor is the condition of things entirely different in the church. The remark is frequently made by men of the world that they are as good as many members of the church. The sad thing about it is that they state what must be recognized as fact. Worldliness in spirit and practice has a large place in many churches. In belief, in conversation, in private life and public action, many members of the church are not as truly Christian as others who make no profession of religion.

What shall be done about it? In times past the attempt has been made to root out the tares. Men who did not conform to the teaching and practice of the church were denounced as heretics and fined, imprisoned, beaten, and even put to death. This course has never been very satisfactory or successful. The evil seems to grow faster the more it is opposed by violent methods. The worst trouble arises, however, from the fact that much wheat is always rooted up when we try to pull up the tares. They look so near alike that when we get earnest in the work we mistake wheat for tares and by rooting out the good we lose it and also give room and cultivation to the tares, which make a more vigorous growth than would have been possible otherwise.

What shall we do?

Attend to your own business and be sure that you grow good wheat, root, stalk and grain, in your own life. You have room enough to do it even if the next one to you gives evidence of having the nature of a tare. He will not be able to infect you if you keep the life currents pure and all powers working for good.

The Lord of the harvest will attend to his case in due time. This is not harvest time, it is growing time. Grow and don't fret about others. God will take care of you and them, too, better than you can do it. In getting well rooted you don't need to root any one else up.

Run Out.

Whether wheat can ever by lack of cultivation or from any cause be changed into tares is very improbable, though many eastern farmers believe one is a degenerate form of the other. But it is certain that in human life there is great danger, if one neglects to constantly cultivate his better and spiritual faculties, he will lose the power to think and do rightly.

There are many individuals who seem to be run out Christians. They once showed signs of religious life, prayed, attended and took part in public religious worship, helped others by word and deed in the Christian life. Now they have no consciousness of the presence of God's spirit of peace and pardon, they neglect the house of God. They never speak to persuade others to seek God. They are bitter and fault finding and companions with those of foul tongue and impure deeds. Are they Christians or worldlings, wheat or tares? It is certain that they are not good specimens of healthy wheat. They look as if the stock was about run out. Of all unsatisfactory and unprofitable conditions in life, that of a backslidden Christian is about the worst.

The Great Change.

The change which the gospel of Jesus Christ has made in the world at large during the last 20 centuries is not more striking than that which it produces in an individual. The beginning of the knowledge of God and His righteousness is small and almost unrecognized in many cases, but if properly cared for it expands until the whole course of life is changed, broadened, ennobled, refined and purified. The difference between a truly spiritual and devout person and a worldly one is as great as that between a Christian community and a heathen one. The gospel touches the whole life. It turns the thought into new channels, the well is changed, the affections are set on new objects. Ambition, desire, imagination, hope, faith and all activities are different from what they otherwise would be. Do penance or repent does not express the New Testament change. It is a transformation of life, not a mere transfiguring of form, but a soul alteration.

Convert Making Truth.

There can be no effective gospel ministry without the atonement of Calvary.

There can be no truly successful missionary or evangelical operations without the blood of the crucified. There can the red men.

a savage lion. The men who perform this foolhardy act are few and far between.

There are tens of thousands of men who daily do a much more rash and dangerous deed. They are the men who overwork and neglect their health. No man can do this with impunity. The inevitable result is serious illness and premature death. One of the most common results of carelessness in regard to health is consumption. There is one, and only one, unfailing remedy for this dread disease. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It has a record of thirty years, during which time it has cured 98 per cent. of all cases of bronchial, throat and lung affections. It acts directly on the digestive and nutritive organism. It creates a healthy appetite for food, facilitates the flow of digestive juices and promotes the assimilation of the life-giving elements of the food. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve-tonic. In cases of nervous prostration it builds up the nerve fibres and gives sound, refreshing sleep.

"I took a severe cold with sore throat," writes Mrs. A. S. Everhart, of Oard Spring, Scott Co., Ind. "Soon I began to cough. My right side became sore so that when I coughed it seemed as though my side would burst. The physician said I had pleurisy. I took his medicine for some time and got no better. All through the spring and summer I used mustard plasters and fly blisters on my side and over lungs. Finally I began to ache so badly between my shoulders that I could hardly endure it and at times almost smothered. My breath was so short that I could scarcely talk. Several of my near relatives had died of consumption. I thought I would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles of it, and two of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' and am a new person. I would not take any money for the benefit received."

"What do you think is the origin of the proposal?"

"In the absence of any information on the subject, that question, too, is subject only to speculation. But, venturing an opinion, I should say that it was due to Russia's fear that complications in the far east are likely to lead to that outbreak of hostilities which has been looked for ever since the close of the Franco-Prussian war and that she is not in fit condition to go into that conflict. Whatever its origin may be, you can rest assured that its object is for the benefit of Russia."

"According to common report, Russia has for several years been improving her finances. Is she not yet in condition to enable her to enter upon a war if necessary?"

"Nobody outside knows," the officer replied, "just what the financial con dition of Russia is. That information is kept scrupulously within the knowledge of her own officers.

"My belief is that she is burdened with a debt hopelessly beyond her present ability to provide for, a debt built up by the construction of the Transsiberian railway, not yet completed, and other internal improvements. She cannot greatly extend her credit and is in no condition to come into conflict with Great Britain on the seas, and there for two or three years at least the fight must take place. Russia has not yet reached the limit of the period when she must remain at home.

""The sincerity of the proposal, which seems on the surface to be genuine, can best be judged from Russia's response in the conference to the counter proposal that her concession from China to build the Siberian railway to Port Arthur be abandoned."

"Will the proposal affect the United

"I do not think so," was the answer. We are not as yet seriously concerned regarding the expenditures for the military and naval establishments of the country. Whatever may be the cost of the war and of the responsibilities subsequent thereto, I am satisfied that in ten years from now there will be no vestige of it remaining. With the installation of good government in Cuba and Porto Rico, such as will naturally follow our possession of those islands, they will be a source of much revenue to the United States. Before the hard times set in, and I mean by that prior to the beginning of the Ten Years' war in Cuba and of the gross corruption and oppression that accompanied and followed that outbreak, Cuba paid to Spain $24,000,000 a year revenue. That was in addition to all that was stolen in transit and to all that was paid cheerful news from her battlefields and hangers on sent over from Spain to get their living out of the Cubans.

"With decent treatment, fair government and honest dealing Cuba and Porto Rico ought to be worth $50,000,000 a year to this country, and there are the Philippines, about which I say nothing, 'or their future relation to the United States has not yet been defined. Until that matter is settled and Cuba pacified and tranquilized no proposal affecting the energy or force of the military arm of the United States will have consideration."-Washington Cor. New York

NORTH AMERICAN SAINT.

A Late Bishop of Philadelphia May Be Canonized.

The Very Rev. Joseph Wessel of the Order of the Redemptorists is on his way to Rome with documents intended to prove that the virtues and religious zeal of the late John Nepomucene Neumann, bishop of Philadelphia, make him worthy of canonization. If the good bishop be canonized, he will be the only North American saint on the calendar. The only American saint is St. Rose of Lima, who died in 1617 in Bishop Neumann was born in Bohemia in 1811. He came to New York in 1866 and was ordained a priest by Bishop Dubois. He did mission work among the Indians, joined the congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer (as the Redemptorist order is designated), and in 1852 was made bishop of Philadelphia. He died in 1860. His religious work was chiefly among children, and it is said he was so untiring in his labors that frequently he would not go to bed, but slept for awhile in a chair.

Two years ago the church sanctioned an inquiry into the life of Bishop Neumann, the first step in the process of canonization, which is slow. Father Wessel was then made postulant of the cause, and he has examined witnesses and laid evidence of Bishop Neumann's sanctity before the court of inquiry, which has held its sessions in Philadelphia. Archbishop Ryan presided over the court, which was made up of priests known as judges and promoters of the faith, who, as the representatives of the holy see, were addressed as most illustrious and most reverend.

This testimony, properly indorsed and authenticated, Father Wessel takes to Rome, where he will lay it before the court that has the power to add names to the calendar of saints. It may be years before this very deliberate court Neumann. And before he will be elevated to sainthood it will be necessary to prove that he worked at least two miracles. - New York World.

Express Office at Camp Wikoff.

That express office at Camp Wikoff is a wonderland, a curio shop on a gigantic scale. Boxes, bales and bundles fairly oozing delectable things to eat are piled chin high on the floor, with just enough passage space for one person to go through. Besides these there are cots, agricultural implements, grindstones, cooking utensils, fish poles, clothing and the thousand and one miscellanies for which the needy soldiers are obliged to send to the city. But far and away in advance of all else are the eatables and drinkables, in boxes which are commonly labeled. The other day three hungry looking regulars walked past the office and stopped to read the

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Sept. 18. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Wheat and the Tares.

SCRIPTURE READING .- Math. xiii, 24-30; 37-

48, "Let both grow together till the harvest.

One of the questions which greatly puzzles many people is, why God should allow so much wickedness in the world and why the evil minded and bad people should be so prosperous. It oftentimes looks as if in business the man who is strictly honest and upright in his dealings has little chance for getting along in competition with those who are dishonest and tricky. How difficult it is for a temperance hotel to be made to pay! What prosperity is enjoyed by the saloon keeper, brewer and distiller! In politics, how impossible it seems for a man to be honest and open! The recent developments in the governmental affairs of our great cities and in the political management of New York and Pennsylvania are disheartening to all who love right and purity. Nor is the condition of things entirely different in the church. The remark is frequently made by men of the world that they are as good as many members of the church. The sad thing about it is that they state what must be recognized as fact. Worldliness in spirit and practice has a large place in many churches. In belief, in conversation, in private life and public action, many members of the church are not as truly Christian as others who make no profession of religion.

What shall be done about it? In times past the attempt has been made to root out the tares. Men who did not conform to the teaching and practice of the church were denounced as heretics and fined, imprisoned, beaten, and even put to death. This course has never been very satisfactory or successful. The evil seems to grow faster the more it is opposed by violent methods. The worst trouble arises, however, from the fact that much wheat is always rooted up when we try to pull up the tares. They look so near alike that when we get earnest in the work we mistake wheat for tares and by rooting out the good we lose it and also give room and cultivation to the tares, which make a more vigorous growth than would have been possible otherwise.

What shall we do?

Attend to your own business and be sure that you grow good wheat, root, stalk and grain, in your own life. You have room enough to do it even if the makes its decision concerning Bishop next one to you gives evidence of having the nature of a tare. He will not be able to infect you if you keep the life currents pure and all powers working for good.

The Lord of the harvest will attend to his case in due time. This is not harvest time, it is growing time. Grow and don't fret about others. God will take care of you and them, too, better than you can do it. In getting well rooted

Run Out.

Whether wheat can ever by lack of cultivation or from any cause be changed into tares is very improbable, though many eastern farmers believe one is a degenerate form of the other. But it is certain that in human life there is great danger, if one neglects to constantly cultivate his better and spiritual faculties, he will lose the power to think and do rightly.

There are many individuals who seem to be run out Christians. They once showed signs of religious life, prayed, attended and took part in public reattended and took part in public re-ligious worship, helped others by word advised him to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and deed in the Christian life. Now they have no consciousness of the presence of God's spirit of peace and pardon, they neglect the house of God. They never speak to persuade others to seek God. They are bitter and fault finding and companions with those of foul tongue and impure deeds. Are they Christians or worldlings, wheat or tares? It is certain that they are not good specimens of healthy wheat. They look as if the stock was about run out. Of all unsatisfactory and unprofitable conditions in life, that of a backslidden Christian is about the worst.

The Great Change.

The change which the gospel of Jesus Christ has made in the world at large during the last 20 centuries is not more MADE MEA MAN during the last 20 centuries is not more striking than that which it produces in an individual. The beginning of the knowledge of God and His righteousness is small and almost unrecognized in many cases, but if properly cared for it expands until the whole course of life is changed, broadened, ennobled, refined and purified. The difference between a truly spiritual and devout person and a worldly one is as great as that between a Christian community and a heathen a Christian community and a heathen one. The gospel touches the whole life. It turns the thought into new channels, the well is changed, the affections are set on new objects. Ambition, desire, imagination, hope, faith and all activities are different from what they other wise would be. Do penance or repent does not express the New Testament change. It is a transformation of life, not a mere transfiguring of form, but a soul alteration.

My right side became sore so that when I coughed it seemed as though my side would burst. The physician said I had pleurisy. I took his medicine for some time and got no better. All through the spring and summer I used mustard plasters and fly blisters on my side and over lungs. Finally I began to ache so badly between my shoulders that I could hardly endure it and at times almost smothered. My breath was so short that I could scarcely talk. Several of my near relatives had died of consumption. I thought I would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles of it, and two of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' and am a new person. The Board of Trade Is Legally Dead.

IMPROVEMENT COMPANY LIVING

All Money Subscribed For the East End Pottery Was Returned—Directors Elected For the New Concern—All the News of Wellsville.

A large number of representative citizens assembled at city hall last night to see the board of trade officially die and the Wellsville Improvement company come to life.

J. N. Turner called the meeting to order and T. H. Silver was elected chairman and E. G. Whittaker secretary. Mr. Silver stated the object of the meeting, and called upon Judge Smith for a report of the board's business. He explained the purpurchase of the Putnam property and the endeavor and failure to have a pottery erected. He showed that Charles F. McKenna and others, of Pittsburg. were responsible parties, and an effort would be made to recover from them. The mill project was explained, and it was plainly shown the board was in no way to blame for the tragic happenings which prevented its construction. The estates of these men were in such a position that damages could be recovered. They explained that all who paid $1 a year for five years, the money to be used in advertising the town and securing industries. would become members of the Improvement company. Notwithstanding bad luck they expected to go right along.

Mr. Silver appointed J. N. Turner, T. J. Forner, E. G. Whittaker, A. R. Wells and P. Bruner to solicit members for the new organization. They secured 100. John Lyth, Doctor Parke and T. R. Snowden were made a committee on organization. The directors elected were Judge Smith, J. C. Catlett, S. Stevenson, P. H. White, J. N. Turner, T. H. Silver, E. G. Whittaker, D. F. Steiner, J. Goetz, S. S. Cope, E. H. Riggs, G. B. Aten, D. N. McLean, W. H. Sheets and A. R. Wells.

It was then decided to return all subscriptions for the East End project, and checks were passed through the audience.

The public meeting at this point adjourned, and the directors met, 10 members being sworn in by T J. Forner. The election resulted as follows: President, J. C. Catlett; vice president, T. H. Silver; secretaries, T. J. Forner and E. G. Whitaker; treasner, J. Goetz.

Mr. Turner and Mr. Silver were appointed to prepare bylaws, and the board went into executive session.

Lord Cromer.

To read Egyptian-French accounts of Lord Cromer, you would picture him a stiff browed, hard mouthed, cynical, taciturn martinet. To look at the real man, you would say that he gave half of his time to sleep and the other half to laughing. Lolling in his carriage through the streets of Cairo, or lighting a fresh cigarette in his office, dressed in a loose fitting gray tweed and a striped shirt, with ruddy face, short white hair and short white mustache, with gold rimmed eyeglasses half hiding eyes half closed, mellow of voice and fluent of speech-is this the perfidious Baring, you ask yourself, whom Frenchmen detest and strive to imitate? -this the terrible Lord Cromer whom khedives obey and tremble?

His demeanor is genial and courteous. His talk is easy, open, shrewd, humorous. His subordinates admire, respect, even love him. He is the mildest mannered man that ever sacked prime minister. Only somehow you still felt the steel stiffening the velvet. He is genial, but he would be a bold man who would take a liberty with him; he talks, only not for publication; he is loved, yet he must always be obeyed. Velvet as long as he can, steel as soon as he must—that is Lord Cromer. — "Egypt in 1898," by G. W. Stevens.

Lord Cromer.

To read Egyptian-French accounts of Lord Cromer, you would picture him a stiff browed, hard mouthed, cynical, taciturn martinet. To look at the real man, you would say that he gave half of his time to sleep and the other half to laughing. Lolling in his carriage through the streets of Cairo, or lighting a fresh cigarette in his office, dressed in a loose fitting gray tweed and a striped shirt, with ruddy face, short white hair and short white mustache, with gold rimmed eyeglasses half hid ing eyes half closed, mellow of voice and fluent of speech-is this the perfidious Baring, you ask yourself, whom Frenchmen detest and strive to imitate? -this the terrible Lord Cromer whom khedives obey and tremble?

His demeanor is genial and courteous. His talk is easy, open, shrewd, humorous. His subordinates admire, respect, even love him. He is the mildest mannered man that ever sacked prime minister. Only somehow you still felt the steel stiffening the velvet. He is genial, but he would be a bold man who would take a liberty with him; he talks, only not for publication; he is loved, yet he must always be obeyed. Velvet as long as he can, steel as soon as he mustthat is Lord Cromer. - "Egypt in 1898," by G. W. Stevens.

MAJOR WEYBRECHT.

Major Weybrecht, Democratic candidate for congress, is according to the boys who served with him in Cuba, a gentleman and a good fellow. No one accuses him of extraordinary energy, and since his nomination it has frequently been said that he would have to find some one to canvass the district in his behalf if he is to make a good showing.

Truth is the major was not selected by the Democrats because he is intellectually in advance of Morris, Sherwood or Taylor, but because he was a a soldier in Cuba, and public sympathy is just now turned in that direction. His friends entertain some hope that he will defeat Hon, R. W. Tayler simply because he is a member of the Eighth. They will eventually discover their mistake. We all honor Major Weybrecht as a soldier and an officer, but we can plainly see it would be a grievous mistake for the Eighteenth to place a man in congress who has no other claims on the position. Let Major Weybrecht keep his shoulder straps, he can wear them with more honor than he can occupy a a seat in the house of representatives.

A POOR PLATFORM.

The Democratic congressional convention at Alliance yesterday adopted the poorest platform presented to the party in the Eighteenth district in many years.

It was expected that the last national and state platforms would be reaffirmed. but no one believed the administration of President McKinley would come in for the scoring it received, and few there are who think the party will de rive any particular benefit from its action. The charge that the war has been used for the advancement of political friends of the President without regard to fitness is too silly to be considered, when it is remembered that General Joe Wheeler is hailed as the hero of Santiago by people of all parties. and General Lee was given the highest possible position. These two facts speak for themselves. Either the committee on resolutions were woefully ignorant of the facts, or they were determined to endeavor to hoodwink an intelligent people by a lot of nonsense without the semblance of truth for its foundation.

The declaration for free silver was not unexpected; the only wonder being dered them at his home, where they exthat Sherwood and his Canton friends did not succeed in pushing through a resolution that was more venomous in its expression. They controlled the convention two years ago, and at that time placed themselves in position to invite the ridicule of the entire district. Perhaps that taught them a lesson.

It is nothing if not amusing to note the manner in which the names of Bryan and Jefferson are interwoven in the last resolution. From it one is almost compelled to believe those gentlemen held exactly the same political views. The utterance in itself will doubtless cause many a smile, provided the people of the district so interest themselves as to read the resolutions in detail. It is without doubt the only sparkling gem of the bunch.

ing to be the party of the people. yet never carrying out that claim, it has descended to demagogy of a most pronounced type. Hoping against hope for success, the convention adopted the resolutions because they might bring a few votes from people who did not un-

A Liverpool Boy Who Became Ill When the Mohawk Reached Camp Wikoff Passed Away In Detention Hospital. Member of the Alliance Company.

Another of East Liverpool's soldier boys who went forth to defend his country's flag and endured the hardships of the Santiago campaign without a murmur, has gone to his last reward.

Private David B. Carnahan, Company K. Eighth Onio Volunteer infantry, died last night at 9:50 o'clock in the detention hospital at Montauk Point from an attack of typhoid fever.

Deceased was aged 19 years, and was born in Carnegie, Pa., but has been a resident of the city for over nine years. He was employed in the potteries, but at the time he enlisted was employed in the electric business.

When the war came on Carnahan enlisted with Company E, and when the company left the city he went with them to Camp Bushnell. When the roster of the company was cut down Carnahan was given an honorable discharge and sent home, much against his will. Upon his return here he at once enlisted in the volunteer company being formed by S. C. Johnson in the hope that he would get to the front.

Seeing there was no chance of them ness. ever being called out, when Lieutenant Anderson came to the city from Camp Alger for new recruits, he was among the first to apply and was again Alliance.

He was taken ill while coming to this country on board the Mohawk, and was sent at once to the detention hospital where he remained until the time of his death. His sister was with him when he died.

Private Carnahan was very well known in the city, and was universally liked. He was a general favorite with the members of his company, and his death will cause a gloom in the entire company. For several years he was a member of the Junior Rechabites and was a sober, industrious young man. The large flag was placed at half mast this morning.

A telegram received this afternoon from Miss Maggie Carnahan, a sister o the deceased, states that she will leave New York with the body tomorrow evening, and it will arrive here at 10:07 Monday morning. The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon, Reverend Huston officiating. The remains will be taken to Salineville Tuesday for interment.

A trooper had gone down to a water hole after the sentries were posted. On returning he was challenged, but, not knowing the countersign, the sentry refused to let him pass.

"Can't be helped. You know the orders, and unless you give the countersign there you are, and there you will remain!" retorted the sentry. And he did remain there until the visiting officer admitted him in the small hours of the morning.

On another occasion the countersign was "Nordenfeldt," the name of a certain kind of gun. A soldier, on approaching the picket, had a hazy recol lection that some sort of a gun had been mentioned as the countersign and in answer to the challenge gave "Maxim."

"That's not it," replied the sentry. "Oh, well, the other kind of gun!" hazarded the man.

"Well, that's near enough. Pass in,"

The Screw of Archimedes.

Archimedes of Syracuse, when he was in Egypt, invented a machine for pumping bilge water out of the holds of ships. This instrument was also used in the delta for purposes of irrigation. Diodorus Siculus twice refers to it (i., 34, 2 v., 37, 3). A curious model of such an instrument, probably of the late Ptole. maic period, has been found in lower Egypt. It consists of a terra cotta cylinder with a screw inside it 10 inches long and 416 inches in diameter. Near the center of the outside is a band with crosspieces. These may represent foot. holds and suggest that the machine was worked after the manner of the treadmill. Such screws were probably made of wood. England's Ac' levement and Her New Responsibilities.

It is a grand achievement which the British have made in the Sudan, a territory quite as vague in geographical expression as central Asia. The Anglo-Egyptian forces are actually, by the victory at Khartum, masters of the African continent. The defeat and dispersion of the war tribes bordering the Blue and White Niles, the unseating of Islam in central Africa as a consequence and the complete destruction of the African slave trade mark a new tide in the ebb and flow of the world's history.

Nearly 30 years ago I was in Khartum, living in the city five monthe, and I also journeyed among the tribes. When Gordon went up to that region, he went up there to make trouble. "Conquest and Gordon and Britain," those were the words he proclaimed, and the natives did not relish the ruthless invader, and, while deploring the fate of that gallant soldier and gentleman, I must yet think with sorrow about the brave Mohammedans slain, doubtless many of them my personal friends and who worshiped the same God as do we and always vi et armis. To have crushed the dervishes only opens a new problem, and, if I may be permitted to hazard a prediction, this victory will be a sorry one for England in the end. The almost complete survey of northern and eastern Africa which I made in tranquil times teaches me that the rush for that region when conditions are favorable will be one of the extraordinary features of the Christian era. Many Opinions of the Liverpool Boy.

AT PRESENT NO TRADE

But He May Net Play With Washington Next Year-One Authority Believes He Should Never Pitch as Long as He Can Run-Some Sporting News.

The Sporting Life this week devotes a great deal of space to Winnie Mercer. The Washington correspondent says:

"Mercer, who is getting the limit and a slice on the side for good measure, has not been doing the work he is capable of doing the season. Boston offered to trade Klobedanz for Mercer, but Mr. Wagner refused the proposition. However, he offered to sell Mercer to the Boston club for $3,000. Mercer on any team but Washington would be a crackajack, but here in the Capital City he is stale. He has been with the Senators too long, and he is anxious for a change which explains his mediocre work.

"There are others among the gang of chronic losers who are in the same boat with the East Liverpool boy."

The notes say that J. Earl Wagner says that Win Mercer is not for sale at any price.

A clipping from the Cincinnati Enquirer says that Keeler, one of the fastest sprinters in the league, in speaking to Mercer, says that a man that can run as he can is foolish to ever pitch a ball, and advised him to get in the outfield, which Mercer said he would do, but said he was not through with pitching yet.

The record of George Carey in the last eight games played with Minneapolis is as follows: Times at bat, 33; hits, 9; putouts, 80, assists, 3.

Alf Shaw caught all the games for Syracuse this week and put up a fair article of ball.

The Toronto people hail the defeat of their team in this city as due to an off day. They will have an off day every time they come to this city as the local team can play too good ball for them.

DEGRADED TWICE BEFORE.

Li Hung Chang Troubled by Displeasage of His Government.

Li Hung Chang, who has been dismissed from power, was, among other things, a member of the tsung-li-yamen, or Chinese foreign office. It was reported in London on Aug. 15 that the British foreign office intended to demand that the Chinese government dismiss him from power, on the ground that he was responsible for the recent anti-British attitude of the Chinese foreign office.

This is not the first time Li Hung Chang has been dismissed from power He fell into disfavor in November, 1895, because of Japan's victories in the war, and was deprived of his yellow jacket and other decorations, as well as removed from the office of viceroy of the metropolitan province of Chihli His disgrace was not of great duration, and he soon afterward represented China at the coronation of the czar of Russia, made a tour of Europe and visited the United States while on his way back to China. His titles and offices were taken from him in 1870 because of supposed apathy in suppressing the Nienfei rebellion, but they were speedily restored by the young Emperor Tungche, who held him in high favor. Advancement to greater rank and station followed this disgrace.

His life was believed to be in danger at one time during the Taiping rebellion, which started in 1851 and lasted 13 years. He was in command of the Chinese forces during the latter part of the conflict. His conduct became displeasing to the authorities in Peking and he was called to the capital. His execution was a possibility, but he prevented such a result by taking with him a bodyguard of 10,000 troops. He has served China since 1850, when he was appointed to correct the emperor's writing and prepare the state history. Honor came to him during the Taiping rebellion, in which he displayed such ability that he was made governor of Thiang Sin province, with residence in Shanghai. He gradually arose until he became viceroy of Pe-chi-li in 1870. Titles and offices were pressed upon him until he became the most powerful of the emperor's subjects. He has been regarded as the leader of the progressive element in China, and through his influence largely the empire has been partially opened to western civilization and advancement.—New York Herald.

BEDS IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Surrounded by Netting and Hard as a Teak Floor.

Joseph Earle Stevens, an ex-resident of Manila, has written a book called "Yesterdays In the Philippines," pub- ing Monday, September 19th. lished by Charles Scribner's Sons, which has yet been printed on the subject. Mr. Stevens tells Americans who are going to Manila exactly what they most want to know. The following extracts are made from the book by permission of the publishers:

"I spent my first night in Manila at was here that I became acquainted with unusual merit. that peculiar institution, the Philippine bed. And to the newly arrived traveler its peculiar rig and construction make it command a good deal of interest if not respect. It is a four poster, with the posts extending high enough to support a light roof, from whose eaves hang copious folds of deep lace. The bed frame is strung tightly across with regular chair bottom cane, a pillow and a surrounding wall of mosquito netting that drops down from the roof and is tucked in under the matting. How to get into one of these cages was the first question that presented itself, and what to do with myself after I got in was the second. It took at least half an hour to make up my mind as to the proper mode of entrance, when I was for the first time alone with this Philippine curiosity, and I couldn't make out whether it was proper to get in through the roof or the bottom or the side. After finally pulling away the netting I found the hard cane bottom about as soft as the teak floor and looked in vain for blankets, sheets and mattresses. In fact, it seemed as if I had got into an unfurnished house, and the more I thought about it the longer I staid awake. At last I cut my way out of the peculiar arrangement, dressed and spent the decidedly cool night in a long cane chair, preferring not to experiment further with the sleeping machine until I found out how it worked."-Washington scotiand. Prior to the year 258, which witness ed its invasion by the Scoti, a tribe who inhabited the northern portions of the country now known as Ireland, Scotland bore the name of Caledonia, literally the hilly country of the Caels, or Gaels. The word cael, or gael, is a corruption of Gadhel, signifying in the native tongue "a hidden rover," while Scot, derived from the native scuite, means practically the same thing-i. e., a wanderer. The Caledonians were the inhabitants of the highlands, the termination dun expressing the Celtic for hill, fort, stronghold. The Scots were the invaders from Scotia, who appropriated the Hebrides and western islands, whereas the lowlanders were the Picts, so called from their description by the Romans, picti, painted men.-"Names and Their Meaning."

Effect of the President's Name.

In one of the extensions at Montauk President McKinley was struck by the wasted appearance of a soldier. Going to the side of his cot, he spoke to him. The man looked up, but didn't recognize the president. He closed his eyes and the president took his hand and said, "Won't you tell me how you feel and whether there's anything I can do for you?"

The president of the United States is talking to you," said General Wheeler to the soldier. It was like an electric shock to the man. He straightened up and by a superhuman effort raised his head up on his left hand and saluted with his right. Immediately he fell in a heap on his cot and with tears in his eyes whispered, "I didn't know you. sir; I am very weak." "Yes, poor fellow," said the president in a voice that trembled, "this is not the time for you to salute me. I'm here to see how you are and what I can do for you." It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others And why not? The sermon was not long, but Rabbi Mielziner delivered an excellent address. He used for its foundation the blessing: "May God grant thee thy heart's desires and fulfill all thy wishes." It was eloquent and polished, and contained many thoughts for the new year which had so auspiciously opened with the setting of last night's sun. At no time did the speaker leave the thought that all good things cometh from the hand of God.

After the sermon Mrs. Duck sang "Nearer My God to Thee," and the closing services were passed through. The closing hymn, followed by the benediction, were in Hebrew. It was throughout a most interesting g service. It was the first ever held by the Reformed Jews in this place.

This morning Rabbi Mielziner preached at 10 o'clock in the same place. His sermon was equally eloquent and impressive.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 18. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-"The triumphs of Christianity."-

Christianity is a triumphant religion. Its triumph is prophesied in the Scriptures. In the vision of Daniel the stone that represented the kingdom of God destroyed the other kingdoms. The book of Revelation is a series of visions in each one of which the triumph of the religion of Christ is assur History corroborates prophecy; Christ and Christianity have triumphed in the past over satan, the grave, tremendous persecutions, the heathen Roman empire, the ignorance and superstition of the dark ages. It is conquering today materialism, rationalism and heathenism, wherever found in the world. It went forth conquering and to conquer, and the day will come when its victory will be complete, when "at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow * * * and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord!"

The topical reference suggests the triumph of Christianity over various things in life. It is the record of Christ's visit to Nazareth, where He stood up in the synagogue and read Isa. lxi, 1, and declared that in Him this Scripture was fulfilled. The blessings and triumphs of the year of jubilee are thus typical of the blessings and triumphs of Christianity. They suggest that— 1. Christianity triumphs over all human conditions. "He hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor." The poor specially were benefited in the year of jubilee. They received again the inheritances of their ancestors, but not at the expense of the owners. They in reality had only leased them until the jubilee year. The poor have the gospel preached to them. It is offered to and needed just as well by the rich. There is no caste system in Christianity. It breaks down the human barriers that separate men, and rich and poor are one in Jesus Christ.

2. Christianity triumphs over sorrows and heartaches. "To heal the broken hearted." How many hearts must have been broken in Israel by separations and losses of family inheritances? But when the year of jubilee was ushered in loved ones were again united, losses were retrieved. Broken hearts were healed. This is the mission of Christianity, to heal the broken hearted, hearts broken by the sorrows which come from separations, adversities, tribulations and the results of sin. Christ came to heal broken hearts, and He does heal them today.

3. Christianity triumphs over slavery. "To preach deliverance to the captives and recovering of the sight to the blind." The captives in prisons were looked upon as blind. Slaves were freed in the year of jubilee. Christianity and is giving men victory over slavish habits of sin and wickedness.

Let us glory in such a triumphant religion. May the spirit of the Lord rest upon us and anoint us to proclaim these triumphant blessings to a needy world.

The Theological Outlook.

We fear there is nothing cheering in the theological outlook for those alarmed and irritated defenders of the ancient order. The reconstruction of theology on the basis of revised and critical reviews of the Scriptures is bound to go on. The only sane thing for those who feel that faith is endangered thereby to do is to engage with equal earnestness and knowledge in the research, find and publish the facts overlooked or suppressed in the interest of revolutionary theories, and thus, by the only effective means, supply the information on which a valid view can rest. To answer investigation by hysterics and heresy trials is as impotent as it is irrational. The sound policy is to meet light with more light.—Universalist Leader.

Today's Work.

One secret of a sweet and happy Christian life is learning to live by the day. It is the long stretches that tire us. We think we cannot carry this load until we are threescore and ten. We cannot fight this battle continually for half a century. But really there are no long stretches. Life does not come to us all at one time; it comes only a day at a time. Even tomorrow is never ours until it becomes today, and we have nothing whatever to do with it but to pass it down a fair and good inheritance in today's work well done and today's life well lived.—British Weekly.

Loyalty to Our Lord.

It is comparatively easy to stand by Christ and His words when they are assailed by His enemies, but many find it hard to uphold them when called in question by brethren whom they love and honor, and so indulge a guilty silence or take refuge in a compromising attitude. But loyalty to our Lord requires us to be true to Him and His truth, come what may. He honors and rewards fidelity to His word as well as to His cause. - Presbyterian.

TIPS FOR COLONISTS.

LIFE IN THE WEST INDIES AND THE ORIENT.

What It Costs to Reside In Cuba and Porto Rico-Rates of Passage to Our New Territory - Plenty of Houses In Cuba.

For the first time in history a citizen of the United States has an opportunity to try colonization in the tropics under his own flag.

The nearest of the new lands to come under the domination of Uncle Sam is Porto Rico. There is only one direct vessel or steamer, as you see fit and according to the price you want to pay. First class passage to Porto Rico by steamship, occupying from 51/2 to 6 days, is $60. Second cabin is $40, while the steerage is $30. The landing places are San Juan and Ponce. Each passenger is permitted to carry 150 pounds of baggage free. Freight charge on household goods is 16 cents per cubic foot. If you want to go by way of Havana, the expense is about the same.

While it is true that we cannot say that Cuba is a possession of the United States or about to become so, we are unquestionably going to have a great deal to do with the development of that country. It is true that Porto Rico is the nearest of our possessions to be, but if we consider Cuba, as it certainly will be, a great field for the emigrant from the United States the cost and methods of going there will be of interest. It takes just four days to go from New York to Havana, and the cost is $37, $25 and $15, according to the quarters the passenger engages. There is no direct line to Santiago, all passengers proceeding via Havana, the time occupied by the journey being seven days. Cost of passage is $65, $45 and $30. Vessels sail for Havana from all along the eastern Atlantic coast, and if the person going there is willing to submit to very plain fare and a certain amount of discomfort he can make the passage at about one-third the rate given above provided he will take one of the little trading vessels.

The person who wishes to go to the Philippine islands will save time and money by going either across the continent by rail or via the Isthmus of Panama. In either case the fare will be $250 to the city of Manila. To reach engaged far ahead. Guam, the one island of the Ladrones where our government seeks to establish a coaling station, as routes of travel exist at present, one must either pay from $50 to $75 extra to induce the Manila steamer to stop there on its way out or else must stop at Hongkong and 17,015,100 in the same weeks of 1892. will visit Indianapolis on his way to await an opportunity to take passage in a vessel going to Guam.

Most Americans who go to Ponce rent rooms and dine at some other place. In the suburbs, where houses are most easily obtainable, a good house costs from $25 to $30 a month. A suit of two rooms in the city, furnished, costs from $2 to $3 a week. If it is desired to keep house, one must pay $7 a barrel for an inferior quality of flour. As for meat, poultry, eggs, etc., all are very plentiful and at about one-half the prices charged in the United States. As for clothing, almost every one wears linen suits, which cost $2.50 or $3 each. Naturally it is necessary to have a number of these, but the Porto Rico women will wash them for very little-Joseph M. Cartwright will leave so little that to the American it seems

In Havana, Santiago and other Cuban cities the cost of living in hotels averages $2 a day. In American boarding houses the charge is from $30 to $40 a month. Outside the cities the cost of States. Potatoes are very cheap. Land is about the same price as in the United States. Flour is $7 a barrel. Beef with the bones in costs 12 cents a pound; with the bones removed, 20 cents a pound. All kinds of fish are plentiful and much cheaper than here. The milk is of very poor quality, and the American who wants to start a dairy farm will practically have the field for his own. American condensed milk costs 25 cents a can.

The native vegetables are much cheaper than in the United States, of a better quality and always in season. Rice costs from 8 to 10 cents a pound. Enough sweet potatoes for a big family in the city can be bought for 5 cents, and in the country less than half that. Fruits-those of the tropics-are very

There is no scarcity of houses in Cuba, such as they are, and a very good one indeed can be secured for $12 a month. Linen is the principal clothing worn, and here a suit costs from $6 to $7. The material comes from France, Germany and Belgium. Very little silk is seen and no heavy clothes at all. Shoes cost about the same as in the United States. Straw hats are cheaper and very much better. The favorite materials for women's dresses are lawn and percale, and these cost from 25 cents to $1 a yard. Percale comes from the United

A very good servant can be hired for $5 a month, the very best only receiving $15. The cost of living and the facts concerning the clothing worn in the Philippines are much the same as the fact that occasionally heavy clothing is needed because of the tearful storms that every now and then loarst upon the islands. In every one of the places where the raising of the stars and stripes has attracted the eye of the emigrant a person with a desire to make money and a determination to economize can succeed. The emigration movement has already begun.-New York Herald.

Dun's Review Says Much More Is Evidently Being Done Than In Past Years.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Business is passing well through the difficulties that attend the winding up of a war, which are generally greater than those involved while war is in progress. The rush of orders kept back while war lasted, by those who thought it shrewd not to take any chances, has lifted prices a little and caused a larger demand for the time than can continue, but though it has passed, there is ample evidence that the consuming demand is very large.

The business of the country is expanding so that payments through clearing houses in the second week of September were 22.5 per cent larger than in 1892, and for two weeks 12 per cent larger. ## RELIEF FUND RAISED.

Some People Were Starving, Owing to West Indian Hurricane-A Number Killed.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Sept. 17.—The hurricane of Sunday was undoubtedly one of the worst visitations of the kind experienced by the West Indies during the century, both in violence and extent. The hurricane swept along the island chain, from Barbados westward to St. Vincent and thence northwest to St. Kitts, where it was last heard from.

Details received from St. Vincent show that out of a population of 41,000 300 were killed and 20,000 were injured and rendered homeless. Besides this, owing to the complete destruction of the provisions they were all starving. Relief funds are being raised in response to an appeal from the governor of St. Vincent, where all descriptions of food and clothing and other necessaries were lost in the general destruction. There is demand for building

HASKELL FELL DEAD.

Died After Welcoming His Boys Home to Columbus.

HE WAS A HERO OF EL CANEY.

Led the Seventeenth Regulars Up the Hill and Received Three Wounds-The Excitement of the Great Demonstration Evidently Too Much For the Officer.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Brigadier General J. T. Haskell, U. S. A., dropped dead at the barracks yesterday afternoon. The excitement of the day, incident to the return of the Seventeenth infantry, brought on heart failure.

Yesterday morning the Seventeenth regiment returned home and General Haskell went to the depot in a carriage to welcome his gallant men. He rode at the head of the regiment, and the cheers of the immense crowds were directed almost as much to him individually as to the regiment. At the reviewing stand the crowd surrounded the carriage and flowers were fairly showered into the vehicle.

Although not as strong as formerly, General Haskell appeared rugged, and his sudden death was a terrible shock. About 1:30 p. m. Captain Clay called at General Haskell's residence to pay his respects. They had been engaged in conversation about five minutes when General Haskell suddenly started to his feet, clasping his hands to his head, then fell to the floor. Mrs. Haskell was prostrated by her husband's death. Two sons survive him.

When Colonel Poland was appointed Brigadier General at the outbreak of the war General Haskell as lieutenant colonel assumed command of the Seventeenth United States infantry and led that regiment in the battle of El Caney, in which he distinguished himself for bravery. He led the regiment through the succession of barbed wire fences that surrounded the blockhouses at El Caney until he was shot. First a bullet struck his right shoe, grazing his heel. Then he was shot in the left shoulder. Then he received a bullet in his knee. General Haskell lay the remainder of the day on the firing line, such attention being given to his wounds as the improvised hospital service provided. For his bravery at El Caney, Thompson, a member of the commission who was yesterday appointed a federal judge of the Southern district of Ohio, made a new appointment necessary.

NEEDED NO MORE MEN.

This the Cheering News General Otis Sent Based on Then Existing Conditions at Manila.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Two dispatches were received from General Otis, dated Manila, Sept. 16, 1898, and were made public yesterday.

In one he said that based upon present indications, no further force was required. Insurgent leaders in politics and army were in excitable frame of mind, but better portion was amenable

In another dispatch, he said msurgents had evacuated Manila, except small force in one outlying district. No difficulty was anticipated and he had made no concessions. They expressed strong desire to maintain friendly intercourse with the United States government. They organized a congress, Thursday, at Malolas to form a plan of government.

A large force was policing and cleaning the city. Trade and commerce were active. Treasury receipts since Aug. 14, $540,000 Mexican current money; monthly expenses, about $350,-000; nearly one-half required to subsist 13,000 Spanish prisoners.

United States laws applied for admission of Chinese and opium; sale of licenses for lotteries and other pastimes opposed by public morals discontinued.

The Manila dispatches stating that ipinos at Maiolos was said to give no apprehension to war department offi-cials, as they felt satisfied that the opportunity for a real crisis was past when Aguinaldo removed his forces from the suburbs of Manila. So long as the American forces in and about Manila are left untrammeled there is no disposition to restrict Aguinaldo in holding meetings of his followers outside of the immediate field of American operations.

DENBY MAY SERVE.

Talked of as a Possible Member of the Commission to Investigate the War Department.

Washington, Sept. 17 .- The expectation was yesterday that Hon. Charles administration, who suggest that it is Denby, ex-minister to China, would accept the president's invitation to become a member of the commission States that the Cubans are in favor of which is to investigate the conduct of the war department during the war with Spain. This, with the other persons who have practically indicated their willingness to serve, makes six in all, the remaining five being Messrs. Howell, Sexton, Keen, Dodge and Gilman. General Schofield's decision is said to be reserved. He is to have another conference with the president to-

The president thinks the commission should consist of nine members.

EXPECT WITHDRAWAL.

Aguinaldo Professes to Believe That the Americans Will Now Leave Manila.

Manila, Sept. 17.—The Philippine national assembly was inaugurated at Malolos Thursday with great enthusiasm. Aguinaldo convened the assembly. He was received with cheers and with cries of "viva America.

Later, in an interview, Agninaldo declined to discuss the American army and protested his undying gratitude to the Americans. He said they had come to the Philippines to fight the Spaniards only, and now that they had finished the task, it was expected that they would return to America.

He was unwilling to believe that the Americans would demand a reward for an act of humanity, and he declined to admit the necessity of a quid pro quo.

Refusal of Pay From Negro.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Paymaster General Stanton turned over to the president yesterday all the papers relating to the refusal of a Texas regiment to receive pay from Major Lynch because he is colored. The president yesterday had taken no definite action beyond expressing approval of General Stanton's course in sending a sharp dispatch to the commanding paymaster of that department, stating in effect that the troops must take their pay from Lynch or else go without pay.

MUST HAVE PROOF OF GUILT.

Governor Budd Declared He Would Not Grant Extradition on Present Papers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17 .- The proceedings in the Botkin extradition case were resumed yesterday before Governor Budd. The governor rather indignantly questioned the right of Delaware officials to send papers to this state when the laws of Delaware require absolute proof of the guilt of an accused person pefore that state will permit of extradition from that state. The governor declared that he would not grant extradition papers upon the show made by the Delaware authorities, unless the papers in the case were the bisolutely perfect, which property he denied were possessed by the papers now before him.

ARMY IN THE SOUTH.

Being Assembled For Occupation of Porto Rico and Cuba.

WISH TO TAKE NO CHANCES.

meials of War Department Do Not Intend to Send Troops to Cuba Until After Unhealthy Season Has Passed. Say Trouble Is Not Feared.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.-The military movements are being directed rapidly toward the assembling of a large army in southern stations for winter camps and preparatory to the military occupation of Cuba and Porto Rico. About 70,000 troops are now located in the south and orders will be issued and others have been issued sending more south.

The major part of the army thus assembled is destined for service in Cuba, with a much smaller force for Porto Rico and a reserve in the winter camps. It is not the intention, however, to send the army of occupation to Cuba until after the unhealthy season has passed and meanwhile the troops are intended to be put in the best possible condition.
On account of the desire of the war department that no chances shall be taken in the way of exposure of the troops to the dangers of the unhealthy season no impatience is felt on account of the rather slow progress of the work of the commission of evacuation at Ha-Aguinaldo had assembled all of the Fil- vana. Great satisfaction is expressed at the progress being made in Porto Rico, and the evacuation is expected to occur speedily; but in connection with the occupation of Porto Rico the same anxiety as to the health of the army is felt, nor are there similar difficulties in connection with establishing the government, Porto Rico becoming at once a part of the territory of the United States.

In assembling and organizing the army for the occupation of Cuba the consideration of possible trouble with the organized insurgents is not being taken into serious account. The Havana dispatches stating that there has developed a strong sentiment in favor of independence and opposition to annexation, coupled with hostility toward the United States, is read with rather an air of amusement by officials of the absurd to give as a reason for hostility on the part of Cubans toward the United entire independence. The purpose of the Cubans to establish a stable independent form of government is strictly in accordance with the terms of the president's proclamation, and, therefore, furnishes no reason for a feeling of hostility.

All the information in the possession of the war department, it is said, indicates the most cordial relations and harmony of purpose between the Cubans and the representatives of this govern ment.

TO CONSOLIDATE HOSPITALS.

Order Issued at Camp Meade-Men Becoming More Restless-May Be Mutiny.

CAMP MEADE, MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Sept. 17.—Chief Surgeon Girard issued an order yesterday consolidating the Red Cross hospitals with the Second division hospitals under the management of Major Charles C. Wiley of the Eighteenth Pennsylvania regiment. Captain Wittington of the Fourth Missouri will be retained as executive officer. The female nurses furnished by the 1.ed Cross society can be used to better advantage by the consolidation of these hospitals.

The movement of troops from camp to the south to prepare for garrison duty in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines will begin early in October. The corps will have been established and in good working order by that time.

The fever patients in the general hospitals will be sent to Philadelphia as rapidly as they become strong enough to be moved. Surgeon General Sternberg believes the sick do better in city hospitals than in tents and has arranged with several Philadelphia hospitals to take care of this class of invalids.

A majority of the men in camp are becoming more and more restless, and, unless the war department acts promptly, there may be mutiny in some of the commands.

in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Pennsylvania regiments the men have no disposition to make requisition for overcoats because they will have to pay for them. They still hope to be mustered out before the weather gets too cold for their present equipment.

As long as the war department continues to muster out a regiment here and there the discontent among the men will continue and every time a regiment leaves camp for home the epidemic of homesickness among those left behind increases in virulence. Major Charles H. Parke of Scranton will be arraigned before the general courtmartial today for neglecting to furnish descriptive lists of patients sent from the Second division hospital, of which he was surgeon in charge, to Philadelphia hospitals.

THANKS FROM THE SICK.

Note Sent From the Yellow Fever Hospital Near Santiago-More Aid Needed.

Washington, Sept. 17.-The following note of thanks to those who have contributed to the relief of our sick in Cuba has been received by one of the field correspondents of The Associated Press in a letter from Santiago:

U. S. YELLOW FEVER HOSPITAL, SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Aug. 29.

"In behalf of the sick who have been and are now in this hospital I wish to thank the noble men, women, boys and girls of the United States who have contributed to the relief of our poor sick in Cuba.

"If those who have aided in this good work could see only one of the beams of delight from the eyes of the convales-cents or the sad smile of pleasure from the pain-furrowed brow of the sick when something is given with the words 'take this, it will do you good,' or 'use this, it was sent from home,' it would repay the givers a hundred fold for all their trouble and expense. Only heaven's recording angel with a pen divinely inspised could pictvre the want, suffering and sickness of our soldiers on this island. Our sick in this hospital when they have received the much needed delicacies sent from America have never failed to cheer up, as though there were tonic in the mere fact of the gift, and seldom do they fail to say with spark-preached to the strikers. ling eyes, 'God bless the dear people at "ORLAND DUCKER,

Accused of Unlawful Assemblage, Riot and Assault and Battery-More Likely to Be Arrested-Refused to Take Bail. Taken to Washington, Ps.

MONONGAHELA, Pa., Sept. 17.-Besides the arrest of the marchers there were no startling developments in the coal miners' strike in the third pool yesterday. The forces of the campers were materially weakened, but many new recruits are expected today. Both sides seem determined.

A massmeeting of the miners was held at New Eagle Bottoms, about one mile from Monongahela, yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large. Addresses were made by District President Patrick Dolan and Organizer Edward Mckay. A resolution to continue the strike with increased vigor was unanimously adopted. Last night

Yesterday morning Sheriff Kennedy and his deputies arrested 32 of the striking miners. Among their number is Vice President William Dodds and John sisted the officers in identifying the men for whom warrants had been issued. riot and riotous assault and battery. The men refused to accept bail, which was offered by Monongahela citizens, and were taken to the Washington county jail in the afternoon. Among those arrested are the members of the New England band, who have been furnishing the music.

THE DISMEMBERED WOMAN.

Body Found Near Bridgeport, Conn., Identified as Miss Perkins of Middleboro, Mass.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 17 .- As a result of yesterday's developments there seems to be almost no doubt that the woman, whose dismembered body was found early in the week in the Yellow mill pond, was Grace Marian Perkins of Middleboro, Mass. Miss Perkins left Middleboro about three weeks ago, presumably with one Charles Bourne, a young man of the town, and since that time all trace of her has been lost. The police here have been making efforts to locate Bourne. The police are eager to ascertain the whereabouts of Dr. "Nancy" Guilford.

The New Haven county jailer has come across three articles of clothing formerly owned by Dr. Gill, husband of Nancy Gilford, and once an inmate of the jail, on each of which it is stated, appears the fateful characters "G, 51, which were also upon a piece of a man's undergarment in one of the bundles which was found in the mill pond.

MR. OWEN IS LEADER

Was Elected Chairman of Central Committee.

THERE MANY NEW FACES

Members Who Were Chosen at the Last Primary Election-Clerk Hanley Is Secretary and A. W. Thomas Treasurer-Discussed Weybrecht's Nomination.

The Republican central committee held its first meeting last evening at city hall.

The session was the first since the recent county primaries, and there were many new committeemen at the meeting. The first business to be transacted was the election of officers for the coming year, to conduct the campaigns and lead the party to victory. There were no contests, and George H. Owen was chosen chairman, while J. N. Hanley will again act as secretary. A. W. Thomas was selected as treasurer.

The coming campaign was thoroughly discussed, and it was decided to secure good speakers to deliver addresses in the city, but no person was selected. Another meeting of the committee will be held next week when all arrangements will be made to open the campaign, and if possible the speaker will be selected.

The nomination of Major C. C. Weybrecht for congress by the Democratic party was also discussed, but the committee expressed the opinion that Hon. R. W. Tayler would have but little trouble.

THE CZAR FOR PEACE.

HIS PLAN TO DISARM WOULD SUB-SERVE RUSSIA'S ENDS.

An International Conference on This Matter Would Not Materially Affect the United States-Russia's Abandonment of Chinese Concessions a Test of Sincerity.

Russia's proposal that there shall be a general disarmament of European nations for the reasons that the maintenance of armed forces is becoming a serious economic matter and that it does not secure the end desired was read the other day with much interest in the state, war and navy building, Washing-

Whatever may be the result of the conference, should one be held and anything substantial eventuate therefrom, it is felt that it will not affect the United States in an appreciable degree or extent. A prominent officer of the administration who has had a long acquaintance with the international relations of the United States, speaking of the report, said:

"While the subject of reducing or abandoning altogether the armaments of the powers of Europe has been discussed from time to time within the past half century, this is the first tangible, responsible proposition that has been made to the world, and as such, of course, will attract wide attention and discussion. So far as I know, our government has had absolutely no previous intimation on the subject, and, judging from the comments of the European press that have been given to the public, it is as much of a surprise there as here. There is no use or benefit in speculating upon what the conference will do; that is too remote and uncertain yet."

"What do you think is the origin of the proposal?"

"In the absence of any information on the subject, that question, too, is subject only to speculation. But, venturing an opinion, I should say that it was due to Russia's fear that complications in the far east are likely to lead to that outbreak of hostilities which has been looked for ever since the close of the Franco-Prussian war and that she is not in fit condition to go into that conflict. Whatever its origin may be, you can rest assured that its object is for the benefit of Russia."

"According to common report, Russia has for several years been improving her finances. Is she not yet in condition to enable her to enter upon a war if necessary?"

"Nobody outside knows." the officer replied, "just what the financial con dition of Russia is. That information is kept scrupulously within the knowledge of her own officers.

"My belief is that she is burdened with a debt hopelessly beyond her present ability to provide for, a debt built up by the construction of the Transsiberian railway, not yet completed, and other internal improvements. She cannot greatly extend her credit and is in no condition to come into conflict with Great Britain on the seas, and there for two or three years at least the fight must take place. Russia has not yet reached the limit of the period when she must remain at home.

"The sincerity of the proposal, which seems on the surface to be genuine, can best be judged from Russia's response in the conference to the counter proposal that her concession from China to build the Siberian railway to Port Arthur be abandoned."

Will the proposal affect the United States?" "I do not think so," was the answer. "We are not as yet seriously concerned regarding the expenditures for the military and naval establishments of the country. Whatever may be the cost of the war and of the responsibilities subsequent thereto, I am satisfied that in ten years from now there will be no vestige of it remaining. With the installation of good government in Cuba and Porto Rico, such as will naturally follow our possession of those islands, they will be a source of much revenue to the United States. Before the hard times set in, and I mean by that prior to the beginning of the Ten Years' war in Cuba and of the gross corruption and oppression that accompanied and followed that outbreak, Cuba paid to Spain $24,000,000 a year revenue. That was in addition to all that was stolen in transit and to all that was paid hangers on sent over from spain to get their living out of the Cubans.

"With decent treatment, fair government and honest dealing Cuba and Porto Rico ought to be worth $50,000,000 a year to this country, and there are the Philippines, about which I say nothing, for their future relation to the United States has not yet been defined. Until that matter is settled and Cuba pacified and tranquilized no proposal affecting the energy or force of the military arm of the United States will have consideration."-Washington Cor. New York

NORTH AMERICAN SAINT.

A Late Bishop of Philadelphia May Be Canonized.

The Very Rev. Joseph Wessel of the Order of the Redemptorists is on his way to Rome with documents intended to prove that the virtues and religious zeal of the late John Nepomucene Neumann, bishop of Philadelphia, make him worthy of canonization. If the good bishop be canonized, he will be the only North American saint on the calendar. The only American saint is St. Rose of Lima, who died in 1617 in Bishop Neumann was born in Bohemia in 1811. He came to New York in 1866 and was ordained a priest by Bishop Dubois. He did mission work among the Indians, joined the congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer (as the Redemptorist order is designated), and in 1852 was made bishop of Philadelphia. He died in 1860. His religious work was chiefly among children, and it is said he was so untiring in his labors that frequently he would not go to bed, but slept for awhile in a chair.

Two years ago the church sanctioned an inquiry into the life of Bishop Neumann, the first step in the process of canonization, which is slow. Father Wessel was then made postulant of the cause, and he has examined witnesses and laid evidence of Bishop Neumann's sanctity before the court of inquiry, which has held its sessions in Philadelphia. Archbishop Ryan presided over the court, which was made up of priests known as judges and promoters of the faith, who, as the representatives of the holy see, were addressed as most illustrious and most reverend.

This testimony, properly indorsed and authenticated, Father Wessel takes to Rome, where he will lay it before the court that has the power to add names to the calendar of saints. It may be years before this very deliberate court makes its decision concerning Bishop Neumann. And before he will be elevated to sainthood it will be necessary to prove that he worked at least two miracles. - New York World.

AN OLD VETERAN DIES.

Took Part In Porter's Expedition and Fought Pirates When Young.

William H. Ferris, the oldest resident of Westchester county, N. Y., died at Mount Vernon on a recent morning in his ninety-eighth year.

In his seventeenth year he joined the navy and took part in Porter's expedition to drive pirates out of the southern waters.

On the night of Jan. 1, 1821, his ship overhauled off Havana a pirate craft carrying plunder valued at $250, 000. Ferris and ten other men were ordered to board the ship, and after a hard battle, in which Mr. Ferris was wounded, the ship and 200 pirates were sent to the bottom.

Mr. Ferris was also on board the steamboat Etony, which was blown up in New York bay and many passengers killed. He was blown into the water and saved two women from drowning. Ferris was active in his old age, rising every morning at 5 o'clock and walking at least five miles before breakfast. He never wore an overcoat or gloves.

He leaves an estate valued at nearly $500,000.—New York Journal.

That express office at Camp Wikoff is a wonderland, a curio shop on a gigantic scale. Boxes, bales and bundles fairly oozing delectable things to eat are piled chin high on the floor, with just enough passage space for one person to go through. Besides these there are cots, agricultural implements, grindstones, cooking utensils, fish poles, clothing and the thousand and one miscellanies for which the needy soldiers are obliged to send to the city. But far and away in advance of all else are the eatables and drinkables, in boxes which are commonly labeled. The other day three hungry looking regulars walked past the office and stopped to read the labels.

"Look at them watermelons," said one in a choking whisper. "Oh, look at 'em !"

"And beer," said another. "A hull parrel of it! Whew! I could swim in beer and never get drowned.' "This side up with care. Preserves," the third man read from a label. "Oh,

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Sept. 18. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Wheat and the Tares.

SCRIPTURE READING. - Math. xiii, 24-30; 37-48, "Let both grow together till the harvest." One of the questions which greatly puzzles many people is, why God should allow so much wickedness in the world and why the evil minded and bad people should be so prosperous. It oftentimes looks as if in business the man who is strictly honest and upright in his dealings has little chance for getting along in competition with those who are dishonest and tricky. How difficult it is for a temperance hotel to be made to pay! What prosperity is enjoyed by the saloon keeper, brewer and distiller! In politics, how impossible it seems for a man to be honest and open! The recent developments in the governmental affairs of our great cities and in the political management of New York and Pennsylvania are disheartening to all who love right and purity.

Nor is the condition of things entirely different in the church. The remark is frequently made by men of the world that they are as good as many members of the church. The sad thing about it is that they state what must be recognized as fact. Worldliness in spirit and practice has a large place in many churches. In belief, in conversation, in private life and public action, many members of the church are not as truly Christian as others who make no profession of religion.

What shall be done about it? In times past the attempt has been made to root out the tares. Men who did not conform to the teaching and practice of the church were denounced as heretics and fined, imprisoned, beaten, and even put to death. This course has never been very satisfactory or successful. The evil seems to grow faster the more it is opposed by violent methods. The worst trouble arises, however, from the fact that much wheat is always rooted up when we try to pull up the tares. They look so near alike that when we get earnest in the work we mistake wheat for tares and by rooting out the good we lose it and also give room and cultivation to the tares, which make a more vigorous growth than would have been possible otherwise.

What shall we do?

Attend to your own business and be sure that you grow good wheat, root, stalk and grain, in your own life. You have room enough to do it even if the next one to you gives evidence of having the nature of a tare. He will not be able to infect you if you keep the life currents pure and all powers working for good.

The Lord of the harvest will attend to his case in due time. This is not harvest time, it is growing time. Grow and don't fret about others. God will take care of you and them, too, better than you can do it. In getting well rooted you don't need to root any one else up.

Run Out.

Whether wheat can ever by lack of cultivation or from any cause be changed into tares is very improbable, though many eastern farmers believe one is a degenerate form of the other. But it is certain that in human life there is great | Pills. In a very short time I was relievdanger, if one neglects to constantly cultivate his better and spiritual faculties, he will lose the power to think and do rightly.

There are many individuals who seem to be run out Christians. They once showed signs of religious life, prayed, attended and took part in public religious worship, helped others by word and deed in the Christian life. Now they have no consciousness of the presence of God's spirit of peace and pardon, they neglect the house of God. They never speak to persuade others to seek God. They are bitter and fault finding and companions with those of foul tongue and impure deeds. Are they Christians or worldlings, wheat or tares? It is certain that they are not good specimens of healthy wheat. They look as if the stock was about run out. Of all unsatisfactory and unprofitable conditions in life, that of a backslidden Christian is about the worst.

The Great Change.

The change which the gospel of Jesus name, Doan's, and take no other. Christ has made in the world at large during the last 20 centuries is not more striking than that which it produces in an individual. The beginning of the knowledge of God and His righteousness is small and almost unrecognized in many cases, but if properly cared for it expands until the whole course of life is changed, broadened, ennobled, refined and purified. The difference between a truly spiritual and devout person and a worldly one is as great as that between a Christian community and a heathen one. The gospel touches the whole life. It turns the thought into new channels, the well is changed, the affections are set on new objects. Ambition, desire, imagination, hope, faith and all activities are different from what they other wise would be. Do penance or repent does not express the New Testament change. It is a transformation of life, not a mere transfiguring of form, but a soul alteration.

Convert Making Truth.

There can be no effective gospel ministry without the atonement of Calvary. There can be no truly successful missionary or evangelical operations without the blood of the crucified. There can his head into the mouth of a savage lion. The men who perform this foolhardy act are few and far between.

There are tens of thousands of men who daily do a much more rash and dangerous deed. They are the men who overwork and neglect their health. No man can do this with impunity. The inevitable result is serious illness and premature death, One of the most common results of carelessness in regard to health is consumption. There is one, and only one, unfailing remedy for this dread disease. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It has a record of thirty years, during which time it has cured 98 per cent. of all cases of bronchial, throat and lung affections. It acts directly on the digestive and nutritive organism. It creates a healthy appetite for food, facili-tates the flow of digestive juices and promotes the assimilation of the life-giving ele-ments of the food. It is the great blood maker, flesh-builder and nerve-tonic. In cases of nervous prostration it builds up the nerve fibres and gives sound, refreshing sleep.

"I took a severe cold with sore throat," writes Mrs. A. S. Everhart, of Oard Spring, Scott Co., Ind. "Soon I began to cough. My right side became sore so that when I coughed it seemed as though my side would burst. The physician said I had pleurisy. I took his medicine for some time and got no better. All through the spring and summer I used mustard plasters and fly blisters on my side and over lungs. Finally I have and summer I used mustard plasters and fly blisters on my side and over lungs. Finally I began to ache so badly between my shoulders that I could hardly endure it and at times almost smothered. My breath was so short that I could scarcely talk. Several of my near relatives had died of consumption. I thought I would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles of it, and two of his 'Pleasant Pelets' and am a new person. I would not take lets,' and am a new person. I would not take any money for the benefit received."

The Board of Trade Is Legally Dead.

IMPROVEMENT COMPANY LIVING

All Money Subscribed For the East End Pottery Was Returned-Directors Elected For the New Concern-All the News of

A large number of representative citizens assembled at city hall last night to see the board of trade officially die and the Wellsville Improvement company come to life.

J. N. Turner called the meeting to order and T. H. Silver was elected chairman and E. G. Whittaker secretary. Mr. Silver stated the object of the meeting, and called upon Judge Smith for a report of the board's business. He explained the purpurchase of the Putnam property and the endeavor and failure to have a pottery erected. He showed that Charles F. McKenna and others, of Pittsburg, were responsible parties, and an effort would be made to recover from them. The mill project was explained, and it was plainly shown the board was in no way to blame for the tragic happenings which prevented its construction. The estates of these men were in such a position that damages could be recovered. They explained that all who paid $1 a year for five years, the money to be used in advertising the town and securing industries, would become members of the Improvement company. Notwithstanding bad luck they expected to go right along. Mr. Silver appointed J. N. Turner, T.

J. Forner, E. G. Whittaker, A. R. Wells and P. Bruner to solicit members for the new organization. They secured 100. John Lyth, Doctor Parke and T. R. Snowden were made a committee on organization. # Lord Cromer.

To read Egyptian-French accounts of Lord Cromer, you would picture him a stiff browed, hard mouthed, cynical, taciturn martinet. To look at the real man, you would say that he gave half of his time to sleep and the other half to laughing. Lolling in his carriage through the streets of Cairo, or lighting a fresh cigarette in his office, dressed in a loose fitting gray tweed and a striped shirt, with ruddy face, short white hair and short white mustache, with gold rimmed eyeglasses half hiding eyes half closed, mellow of voice and fluent of speech-is this the perfidious Baring, you ask yourself, whom Frenchmen detest and strive to imitate? -this the terrible Lord Cromer whom khedives obey and tremble?

His demeanor is genial and courteous. His talk is easy, open, shrewd, humorous. His subordinates admire, respect, even love him. He is the mildest mannered man that ever sacked prime minister. Only somehow you still felt the steel stiffening the velvet. He is genial, but he would be a bold man who would take a liberty with him; he talks, only not for publication; he is loved, yet he must always be obeyed. Velvet as long as he can, steel as soon as he mustthat is Lord Cromer. - "Egypt in 1898," by G. W. Stevens.

"For many years past I have been in the habit of reading and writing for some hours in the train almost daily, and my present trouble is undoubtedly

The page is in constant vibration, and the eyes are strained in trying to follow automatically the rapid movements. Too much light is almost as bad as too little. Reading by a powerful electric light invariably brings on eye troubles. People would make their eyes remain serviceable much longer if the instant the printed letter becomes blurry or the reading matter gets out of focus they would seek the best professional skill and prepare to use glasses. ### MAJOR WEYBRECHT.

Major Weybrecht, Democratic candidate for congress, is according to the boys who served with him in Cuba, a gentleman and a good fellow. No one and since his nomination it has frequently been said that he would have to find some one to canvass the district in his behalf if he is to make a good showing.

Truth is the major was not selected by the Democrats because he is intellectually in advance of Morris, Sherwood or Taylor, but because he was a a soldier in Cuba, and public sympathy is just now turned in that direction. His friends entertain some hope that he will defeat Hon, R. W. Tayler simply because he is a member of the Eighth. They will eventually discover their mistake. We all honor Major Weybrecht as a soldier and an officer, but we can plainly see it would be a grievous mistake for the Eighteenth to place a man in congress who has no other claims on the position. Let Major Weybrecht keep his shoulder straps, he can wear them with mere honor than he can occupy a a seat in the house of representatives.

A POOR PLATFORM.

The Democratic congressional convention at Alliance yesterday adopted the poorest platform presented to the party in the Eighteenth district in many years.

These two facts speak for themselves. Either the committee on resolutions were woefully ignorant of the facts, or they were determined to endeavor to hoodwink an intelligent people by a lot of nonsense without the semblance of truth for its foundation.

The declaration for free silver was not unexpected; the only wonder being dered them at his home, where they exthat Sherwood and his Canton friends pect to reside for the present. did not succeed in pushing through a resolution that was more venomous in its expression. They controlled the convention two years ago, and at that time placed themselves in position to invite the ridicule of the entire district. Perhaps that taught them a lesson.

It is nothing if not amusing to note the manner in which the names of Bryan and Jefferson are interwoven in the last resolution. From it one is almost compelled to believe those gentlemen held exactly the same political views. The utterance in itself will doubtless cause many a smile, provided the people of the district so interest themselves as to read the resolutions in detail. It is without doubt the only sparkling gem of the bunch.

When taken as a whole or separately the resolutions show the extremes to which the Democratic party has in ladies. recent years been placed. Always claim-

Teagarden Saloonist Caught by Grand Jury.

HE IS NOW IN JAIL AT LISBON

A New Crop of Petitions Presented Today, In Each of Which a Divorce Is Asked-One Case Comes From East Liverpool-Courthouse News.

LISBON, Sept. 17.—[Special]—Michael Vello, an Italian who recently embarked in the saloon business at Teagarden, is now behind the bars at the county jain awaiting the final outcome of 11 indictments for illegal liquor selling. The last work of the grand jury yesterday was the examination of 35 witnesses from Teagarden, and the presence of these in court caused the temporary shutdown of the mines in that vicinity. Vello was arrested for Sunday selling, and the probabilities are his saloon will be closed for some time.

The grand jury visited the jail last night. In the report of its findings Sheriff Gill and family are properly approved in their care of inmates considering the disadvantages under which the work is done. That the sheriff is compelled to live in rooms adjoining prisoners' quarters, and the basement of the building is inhabited by human beings was a source of regret to the jury, and an earnest appeal is made for a change in affairs.

During the five days' life of the jury 170 witnesses have been examined, and 117 bills have been returned to the court. The jury also reported that a large number of cases were reported to them which should have been disposed of in justices' courts.

Private Carnahan Died at Montauk Point.

A Liverpool Boy Who Became Ill When the Mohawk Reached Camp Wikoff Passed Away In Detention Hospital. Member of the Alliance Company.

Another of East Liverpool's soldier boys who went forth to defend his country's flag and endured the hardships of the Santiago campaign without a murmur, has gone to his last reward.

Private David B. Carnahan, Company K. Eighth Ohio Volunteer infantry, died last night at 9:50 o'clock in the detention hospital at Montauk Point from an attack of typhoid fever.

When the war came on Carnahan enlisted with Company E, and when the company left the city he went with them to Camp Bushnell. When the roster of the company was cut down Carnahan was given an honorable discharge and sent home, much against his will. Upon his return here he at once enlisted in the volunteer company being formed by S. C. Johnson in the hope that he would get to the front.

Private Carnahan was very well known in the city, and was universally liked. He was a general favorite with the members of his company, and his death will cause a gloom in the entire company. For several years he was a member of the Junior Rechabites and was a sober, industrious young man. The large flag was placed at half mast this morning.

A telegram received this afternoon from Miss Maggie Carnahan, a sister of the deceased, states that she will leave New York with the body tomorrow Monday morning. The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon, Reverend Huston officiating. The remains will be taken to Salineville Tuesday for interment.

A Musical Sentry.

The author of "With Plumer In Matebeleland" tells of some humorous sentry incidents.

A trooper had gone down to a water hole after the sentries were posted. On returning he was challenged, but, not knowing the countersign, the sentry refused to let him pass.

"Hang it all, you know me well enough! What's the use of playing the fool at this time of night?" pleaded the

"Can't be helped. You know the orders, and unless you give the countersign there you are, and there you will remain!" retorted the sentry. And he did remain there until the visiting officer admitted him in the small hours of the morning.

On another occasion the countersign was "Nordenfeldt," the name of a certain kind of gun. A soldier, on approaching the picket, had a hazy recol lection that some sort of a gun had been mentioned as the countersign and in answer to the challenge gave "Maxim."

"That's not it," replied the sentry. "Oh, well, the other kind of gun!"

hazarded the man. "Well, that's near enough. Pass in," said the sentry. An orderly officer, on going his rounds, was astonished to find the sen-

The Screw of Archimedes.

Archimedes of Syracuse, when he was in Egypt, invented a machine for pumping bilge water out of the holds of ships. This instrument was also used in the delta for purposes of irrigation. Diodorus Siculus twice refers to it (i., 34, 2 v., 37, 3). A curious model of such an instrument, probably of the late Ptolemaic period, has been found in lower Egypt. It consists of a terra cotta cyl inder with a screw inside it 10 inches long and 416 inches in diameter. Near the center of the outside is a band with crosspieces. These may represent foot holds and suggest that the machine was worked after the manner of the treadmill. Such screws were probably made of wood. No other example of this screw seems to have come to light. -American Journal of Archæology.

A World Song.

World's a mighty wide one-roses every way, Stars for every midnight, sun for every day-And there ain't a storm that darkens but has a rainbow's ray,

And hope's in the hearts of all forever!

World's a mighty wide one, but heaven ain't so high But some of us will reach it when the clouds And the song'll be the sweeter for the memory of the sigh. And hope's in the hearts of all forever! -Atlanta Constitution THE NEW SUDAN.

England's Achievement and Her New Responsibilities.

It is a grand achievement which the British have made in the Sudan, a territory quite as vague in geographical expression as central Asia. The Anglo-Egyptian forces are actually, by the victory at Khartum, masters of the African continent. The defeat and dispersion of the war tribes bordering the Blue and White Niles, the unseating of Islam in central Africa as a consequence and the complete destruction of the African slave trade mark a new tide in the ebb and flow of the world's history.

Nearly 30 years ago I was in Khartum, living in the city five months, and I also journeyed among the tribes. When Gordon went up to that region, he went up there to make trouble. "Conquest and Gordon and Britain," those were the words he proclaimed, and the natives did not relish the ruthless invader, and, while deploring the fate of that gallant soldier and gentleman, I must yet think with sorrow about the brave Mohammedans slain, doubtless many of them my personal friends and who worshiped the same God as do we and always vi et armis. To have crushed the dervishes only opens a new problem, and, if I may be permitted to hazard a prediction, this victory will be a sorry one for England in the end. The almost complete survey of northern and eastern Africa which I made in tranquil times teaches me that the rush for that region when conditions are favorable will be one of the extraordinary features of the Christian era. The fall of Khartum is indeed a significant event in our history. - Alvan S. Southwork in New York Sun.

ECCENTRIC EMPRESS.

Elizabeth of Austria Once Shocked Queen Victoria.

The late Austrian empress' manner of traveling, going about unattended, rendered her one of the easiest though one of the least likely victims of anarchist ferocity. She always traveled incognito as the Countess Hohenemos, relying on her own mysterious proceedings for protection against cranks or criminals.

When in London about three years ago, she was up and about the streets every morning at 5, visiting the flower market at Covent Garden at that unearthly hour more than once, and also the Billingsgate fish market. She retired to bed at 9. She lived wholly to herself and peremptorily forbade the embassy officials to take any notice of her pres-

She never "got on" with Queen Victoria, who disapproved of her free and easy manner of living, entirely discarding the ceremonial surroundings of her rank. Her second and last visit to the queen at Windsor castle to lunch was marked by an incident that created much comment. The empress, on leaving the castle, went straight to the refreshment buffet at the railway station and ate a hearty meal, a proceeding which was taken to reflect on the royal hospitality she had just enjoyed. - New York World.

SPEAKING OF

Many Opinions of the Liverpool Boy.

PRESENT AT TRADE

But He May Net Play With Washington Next Year-One Authority Believes He Should Never Pitch as Long as He Can Run-Some Sporting News.

The Sporting Life this week devotes a great deal of space to Winnie Mercer. The Washington correspondent says:

"Mercer, who is getting the limit and a slice on the side for good measure, has not been doing the work he is capable of doing the season. Boston offered to trade Klobedanz for Mercer, but Mr. Wagner refused the proposition. However, he offered to sell Mercer to the Boston club for $3,000. Mercer on any team but Washington would be a crackajack, but here in the Capital City he is stale. He has been with the Senators too long, and he is anxious for a change which explains his mediocre work.

"There are others among the gang of chronic losers who are in the same boat with the East Liverpool boy."

The notes say that J. Earl Wagner says that Win Mercer is not for sale at any price.

A clipping from the Cincinnati Enquirer says that Keeler, one of the fastest sprinters in the league, in speaking to Mercer, says that a man that can run as he can is foolish to ever pitch a ball, and advised him to get in the outfield, which Mercer said he would do, but said he was not through with pitching yet.

The record of George Carey in the last eight games played with Minneapolis is as follows: Times at bat, 33; hits, 9; putouts, 80, assists, 3.

Alf Shaw caught all the games for Syracuse this week and put up a fair article of ball.

The Toronto people hail the defeat of their team in this city as due to an off day. They will have an off day every time they come to this city as the local team ean play too good ball for them.

DEGRADED TWICE BEFORE.

Li Hung Chang Troubled by Displeasure of His Government.

Li Hung Chang, who has been dismissed from power, was, among other things, a member of the tsung-li-yamen, or Chinese foreign office. It was reported in London on Aug. 15 that the British foreign office intended to demand that the Chinese government dismiss him from power, on the ground that he was responsible for the recent anti-British attitude of the Chinese foreign office.

This is not the first time Li Hung Chang has been dismissed from power. He fell into disfavor in November, 1895, because of Japan's victories in the war, and was deprived of his yellow jacket and other decorations, as well as removed from the office of viceroy of the metropolitan province of Chihli His disgrace was not of great duration, and he soon afterward represented China at the coronation of the czar of Russia, made a tour of Europe and visited the United States while on his way back to China. His titles and offices were taken from him in 1870 because of supposed apathy in suppressing the Nienfei rebellion, but they were speedily restored by the young Emperor Tungche, who held him in high favor. Advancement to greater rank and station followed this disgrace.

His life was believed to be in danger at one time during the Taiping rebellion, which started in 1851 and lasted 13 years. He was in command of the Chinese forces during the latter part of the conflict. His conduct became displeasing to the authorities in Peking and he was called to the capital. His execution was a possibility, but he prevented such a result by taking with him a bodyguard of 10,000 troops. He has served China since 1850, when he was appointed to correct the emperor's writing and prepare the state history. Honor came to him during the Taiping rebellion, in which he displayed such ability that he was made governor of Thiang Sin province, with residence in Shanghai. He gradually arose until he became viceroy of Pe-chi-li in 1870. Titles and offices were pressed upon him until he became the most powerful of the emperor's subjects. He has been regarded as the leader of the progressive element in China, and through his influence largely the empire has been partially opened to western civilization and advancement. - New York Herald.

BEDS IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Surrounded by Netting and Hard as a Teak Floor.

Joseph Earle Stevens, an ex-resident of Manila, has written a book called "Yesterdays In the Philippines," published by Charles Scribner's Sons, which represents the life at Manila and about mer events of the kind. The variety Alliance ...... Mr. Stevens tells Americans who are going to Manila exactly what they most want to know. The following extracts are made from the book by permission of the publishers:

was here that I became acquainted with unusual merit. that peculiar institution, the Philippine bed. And to the newly arrived traveler its peculiar rig and construction make it command a good deal of interest if not respect. It is a four poster, with the posts extending high enough to support a light roof, from whose eaves hang copious folds of deep lace. The regular chair bottom cane, a pillow and a surrounding wall of mosquito netting that drops down from the roof and is tucked in under the matting. How to get into one of these cages was the first question that presented itself, and what to do with myself after I got in was the make up my mind as to the proper mode of entrance, when I was for the first time alone with this Philippine curiosity, and I couldn't make out whether it was proper to get in through the roof or the bottom or the side. After finally pulling away the netting I found the bard cane bottom about as soft as the teak floor and looked in vain for blankets, sheets and mattresses. In fact, it seemed as if I had got into an unfurnished house, and the more I thought about it the longer I staid awake. At last I cut my way out of the peculiar arrangement, dressed and spent the decidedly cool night in a long cane chair, preferring not to experiment further with the sleeping machine until I found out how it worked."-Washington Post.

Prior to the year 258, which witness ed its invasion by the Scoti, a tribe who inhabited the northern portions of the country now known as Ireland, Scotland bore the name of Caledonia, literally the hilly country of the Caels, or Gaels. The word cael, or gael, is a corruption of Gadhel, signifying in the native tongue "a hidden rover," while Scot, derived from the native scuite, means practically the same thing-i. e., a wanderer. The Caledonians were the inhabitants of the highlands, the termination dun expressing the Celtic for hill, fort, stronghold. The Scots were the invaders from Scotia, who appropriated the Hebrides and western islands, whereas the lowlanders were the Picts, so called from their description by the Romans, picti, painted men.-"Names and Their Meaning.'

Effect of the President's Name.

In one of the extensions at Montauk President McKinley was struck by the wasted appearance of a soldier. Going to the side of his cot, he spoke to him. The man looked up, but didn't recog nize the president. He closed his eyes and the president took his hand and said, "Won't you tell me how you feel and whether there's anything I can do for you?"

The president of the United States is talking to you," said General Wheeler to the soldier. It was like an electric shock to the man. He straightened up and by a superhuman effort raised his head up on his left hand and saluted with his right. Immediately he fell in a heap on his cot and with tears in his eyes whispered, "I didn't know you, sir; I am very weak." "Yes, poor fellow," said the president in a voice that trembled, "this is not the time for you to salute me. I'm here to see how you are and what I can do for you." "Thank you," said the soldier, "but I only want my strength back so that I can go home again. I suppose I'll have to wait for that." "I hope you won't have to wait long," said the president.

THE GLAD NEW YEAR

Jewish People Observed Its Coming Last Night.

INTERESTING SERVICES

Were Conducted In Odd Fellows Hall. Rabbi Mielziner, of Cincinnati, Presiding - Another Meeting Today-A Congregation Has Been Formed.

The Jewish people of the city con ducted impressive services in Odd Fellows hall last night, in honor of Aref Rosh Hoshona, the eve of the new year. An interested audience was present, many of the number being from Wellsville. The cordial invitation extended to the public bore fruit, and a number of persons not of the Jewish faith were there.

The hall was neatly decorated with cut flowers, and the pulpit, covered with white drapery and smilax, presented a pretty appearance. Rabbi Mielziner, a stadent from the Cincinnati theological school, one of the most famous in the country, conducted the services. On his right sat William Erlanger, president of the congregation, while at his left was D. Mannist, of Wellsville, vice president. The services were according to the Reformed Jewish faith.

The voluntary by Miss Duck, of Wellsville, was beautifully rendered. and was followed by an anthem from a well trained choir. The rabbi, in a strong, full voice then took up the ritual of the church by reading Psalm CXXI, and the remainder of the opening service was passed through, a portion of it being in Hebrew. Miss Luthringer sang a hymn as a solo beautifully.

The sermon was not long, but Rabbi Mielziner delivered an excellent address. He used for its foundation the blessing: "May God grant thee thy heart's desires and fulfill all thy wishes." It was eloquent and polished, and contained many thoughts for the new year which had so auspiciously opened with the setting of last night's sun. At no time did the speaker leave the thought that all good things cometh | He does heal them today. from the hand of God.

"Nearer My God to Thee," and the closing services were passed through. The closing hymn, followed by the benediction, were in Hebrew. It was throughout a most interesting service. It was the first ever held by the Reformed Jews in this place.

This morning Rabbi Mielziner preached at 10 o'clock in the same place. His sermon was equally eloquent and impressive.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 18. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. TOPIC.-"The triumphs of Christianity."-Luke iv, 16-22.

Christianity is a triumphant religion. Its triumph is prophesied in the Scriptures. In the vision of Daniel the stone that represented the kingdom of God destroyed the other kingdoms. The book of Revelation is a series of visions in each one of which the triumph of the religion of Christ is assur History corroborates prophecy; Christ and Christianity have triumphed in the past over satan, the grave, tremendous persecutions, the heathen Roman empire, the ignorance and superstition of the dark ages. It is conquering today materialism, rationalism and heathenism, wherever found in the world. It went forth conquering and to conquer, and the day will come when its victory will be complete, when "at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow * * * and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord!"

The topical reference suggests the triumph of Christianity over various things in life. It is the record of Christ's visit to Nazareth, where He stood up in the synagogue and read Isa. lxi, 1, and declared that in Him this Scripture was fulfilled. The blessings and triumphs of the year of jubilee are thus typical of the blessings and triumphs of Christianity. They suggest that-

1. Christianity triumphs over all human conditions. "He hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor." The poor specially were benefited in the year of jubilee. They received again the inheritances of their ancestors, but not at the expense of the owners. They in reality had only leased them until the jubilee year. The poor have the gospel preached to them. It is offered to and needed just as well by the rich. There is no caste system in Christianity. It breaks down the human barriers that separate men, and rich and poor are one in Jesus Christ.

2. Christianity triumphs over sorrows and heartaches. "To heal the broken hearted." How many hearts must have been broken in Israel by separations and losses of family inheritances? But when the year of jubilee was ushered in loved ones were again united, losses were retrieved. Broken hearts were healed. This is the mission of Christianity, to heal the broken hearted, hearts broken by the sorrows which come from separations, adversities, tribulations and the results of sin. Christ came to heal broken hearts, and

3. Christianity triumphs over slav-After the sermon Mrs. Duck sang ery. "To preach deliverance to the captives and recovering of the sight to the blind." The captives in prisons were looked upon as blind. Slaves were freed in the year of jubilee. Christianity and is giving men victory over slavish habits of sin and wickedness.

> Let us glory in such a triumphant religion. May the spirit of the Lord rest upon us and anoint us to proclaim these triumphant blessings to a needy world.

The Theological Outlook.

We fear there is nothing cheering in the theological outlook for those alarmed and irritated defenders of the ancient order. The reconstruction of theology on the basis of revised and critical reviews of the Scriptures is bound to go on. The only sane thing for those who feel that faith is endangered thereby to do is to engage with equal earnestness and knowledge in the research, find and publish the facts overlooked or suppressed in the interest of revolutionary theories, and thus, by the only effective means, supply the information on which a valid view can rest. To answer investigation by hysterics and heresy trials is as impotent as it is irrational. The sound policy is to meet light with more light.—Universalist Leader.

Today's Work.

One secret of a sweet and happy Christian life is learning to live by the day. It is the long stretches that tire us. We think we cannot carry this load until we are threescore and ten. We cannot fight this battle continually for half a century. But really there are no long stretches. Life does not come to us all at one time; it comes only a day at a time. Even tomorrow is never ours until it becomes today, and we have nothing whatever to do with it but to pass it down a fair and good inheritance in today's work well done and today's life well lived.—British Weekly.

Loyalty to Our Lord.

It is comparatively easy to stand by Christ and His words when they are assailed by His enemies, but many find it hard to uphold them when called in question by brethren whom they love and honor, and so indulge a guilty silence or take refuge in a compromising attitude. But loyalty to our Lord requires us to be true to Him and His truth, come what may. He honors and rewards fidelity to His word as well as to His cause. - Presbyterian.

THE SOLDIERS' ANGEL.

Mrs. Tingley's Incessant Work of Relief at Camp Wikoff.

Katherine A. Tingley, founder and president of the International Brotherhood league, which has camp headquarters for the relief of sick soldiers at Montauk Point, arrived at Bridgeport the other night on a special transport with 11 sick soldiers from the Brotherhood league hospital and 45 patients from the general hospital at Montauk. The latter were removed through the intercession of Mrs. Tingley with General Wheeler, to whom she presented a telegram from Mayor Taylor of Bridgeport offering to furnish a special transport to bring them to Bridgeport. Mrs. Tingley, upon her arrival, transformed the local Brotherhood league headquarters into a hospital, with accommodation for 26 of the most seriously ill, and placed it under the supervision of the mayor's wife, who is a member of Mrs. Tingley's organization. The others were sent to the City hospital, where preparations had been made for their reception. A letter received at the International Brotherhood league, headquarters at 144 Madison avenue, New York, from one of the nurses at Montauk tells a remarkable story of heroism and sacrifice on the part of Mrs. Tingley. She established the Brotherhood camp at Montauk at the time the first horror transports began arriving from Santiago, and so continuous was the stream of applicants for relief that for four days Mrs. Tingley went without a wink of sleep. On the fifth day she slept five hours and has been continuously at work ever since. Mrs. E. C. Mayer, the head nurse, slept only ten hours during the five days. - New York Journal.

Cuba's Many Foes Look on Cubans and Americans With Favor.

Lieutenant Colonel Hernandez, one of the most brilliant and capable officers of the Cuban army now in Havana under commission from General Gemez to study the situation in that city and get the opinions of the most prominent Cubans with regard to the future of the army and the government, has written an interesting letter to Senor I. D. Poyo, one of the Cuban delegates to the United States. Colonel Hernandez says:

"I have recently arrived in Havana in company with Lieutenant Colonel Pinan de Vilegna upon an important mission from our commander in chief and have learned much that is important for us to know. I have found that the Cubans, both in the army and civil life, are rejoicing in the prospects of peace and the promise of returning prosperity when the Spaniards shall have left our shores. They are happy and rejoicing that Cuba is at last free. It is surprising to find that a large number of those who once avowed sympathy with our enemies, or autonomists, are now inwardly rejoicing, and in many instances outwardly, that Spain has lost her sovereignty in Cuba. The change has in many cases been complete, and Cuba has no stronger or firmer friends now in Havana than many of those who were for a long time bitterly opposed to Cuba libre.

"The change has been wonderful since the opening of peace negotiations and was a complete surprise to me. These people are among the most influential in the city and will materially aid us in the formation of just laws and the reconstruction of the government. They are for peace. All have charged me to write to our friends in America of their thanks for the aid and support which those noble people of the great North American republic have rendered to us in bringing to a realization the ideals of our grand Jose Marti.

"More will be expected of Cuba libre than Cuba slaves. Among the Spaniards there is a growing feeling favorable to Americans. Those Spaniards in Havana have learned of the kindly treatment which the Americans have given to their prisoners, how they have Fine Equipment. respected them and provided well for them, and it has created a good impression. Those who have heretofore refused to discuss the question of Cuban independence and her future are now outspoken and freely give their opinions. All of this is naturally helping our cause."-Cor. # TIPS FOR COLONISTS.

What It Costs to Reside In Cuba and Porto Rico-Rates of Passage to Our New Territory - Plenty of Houses In Cuba.

For the first time in history a citizen of the United States has an opportunity to try colonization in the tropics under

The nearest of the new lands to come under the domination of Uncle Sam is Porto Rico. There is only one direct line to this island, and that is from New York. You may go by either sailing vessel or steamer, as you see fit and according to the price you want to pay. First class passage to Porto Rico by steamship, occupying from 5½ to 6 days, is $60. Second cabin is $40, while the steerage is $30. The landing places are San Juan and Ponce. Each passenger is permitted to carry 150 pounds of baggage free. Freight charge on household goods is 16 cents per cubic foot. If you want to go by way of Havana, the expense is about the same.

While it is true that we cannot say that Cuba is a possession of the United States or about to become so, we are unquestionably going to have a great deal to do with the development of that country. It is true that Porto Rico is the nearest of our possessions to be, but if we consider Cuba, as it certainly will be, a great field for the emigrant from Reverend Reinartz this morning left the United States the cost and methods of going there will be of interest. It takes just four days to go from New York to Havana, and the cost is $37, $25 and $15, according to the quarters the passenger engages. There is no direct line to Santiago, all passengers proceeding via Havana, the time occupied by the journey being seven days. Cost of passage is $65, $45 and $30. Vessels sail for Havana from all along the eastern Atlantic coast, and if the person going there is willing to submit to very plain fare and a certain amount of discomfort he can make the passage at about one-third the rate given above provided he will take one of the little trading vessels.

The person who wishes to go to the Philippine islands will save time and money by going either across the continent by rail or via the Isthmus of Panama. In either case the fare will be $250 to the city of Manila. To reach Guam, the one island of the Ladrones where our government seeks to establish a coaling station, as routes of travel exist at present, one must either pay from $50 to $75 extra to induce the Manila steamer to stop there on its way out or else must stop at Hongkong and await an opportunity to take passage in

Most Americans who go to Ponce rent rooms and dine at some other place. In the suburbs, where houses are most easily obtainable, a good house costs from $2 to $3 a week. If it is desired to keep house, one must pay $7 a barrel for an inferior quality of flour. As for meat, poultry, eggs, etc., all are very plentiful and at about one-half the prices charged in the United States. As for clothing, almost every one wears linen suits, which cost $2.50 or $3 each. Naturally it is necessary to have a number of these, but the Porto Rico women will wash them for very littleso little that to the American it seems

In Havana, Santiago and other Cuban cities the cost of living in hotels averages $2 a day. In American boarding houses the charge is from $30 to $40 a month. Outside the cities the cost of living is much less than in the United States. Potatoes are very cheap. Land is about the same price as in the United States. Flour is $7 a barrel. Beef with the bones in costs 12 cents a pound; with the bones removed, 20 cents a pound. All kinds of fish are plentiful and much cheaper than here. The milk is of very poor quality, and the American who wants to start a dairy farm will practically have the field for his own. American condensed milk costs

25 cents a can. The native vegetables are much cheaper than in the United States, of a better quality and always in season. Rice costs from 8 to 10 cents a pound. Enough sweet potatoes for a big family in the city can be bought for 5 cents, and in the country less than half that. Fruits-those of the tropics-are very

There is no scarcity of houses in Cuba, such as they are, and a very good one indeed can be secured for $12 a month. Linen is the principal clothing worn, and here a suit costs from $6 to $7. The material comes from France, Germany and Belgium. Very little silk is seen and no heavy clothes at all. Shoes cost about the same as in the United States. Straw hats are cheaper and very much better. The favorite materials for women's dresses are lawn and percale, and these cost from 25 cents to $1 a yard. Percale comes from the United

A very good servant can be hired for $5 a month, the very best only receiving $15. The cost of living and the facts concerning the clothing worn in the Philippines are much the same as in Porto Rico, with the exception of the fact that occasionally heavy clothing is needed because of the tearrul storms that every now and then loarst upon the islands. In every one of the places where the raising of the stars and stripes has attracted the eye of the emigrant a person with a desire to make money and a determination to economize can succeed. The emigration movement has already begun.-New York Herald.

EXPANDED BUSINESS.

Dun's Review Says Much More Is Evidently Being Done Than In

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Business is passing well through the difficulties that attend the winding up of a war, which are generally greater than those involved while war is in progress. The rush of orders kept back while war lasted, by those who thought it shrewd not to take any chances, has lifted prices a little and caused a larger demand for the time than can continue, but though it has passed, there is ample evidence that the consuming demand is very large.

The business of the country is expanding so that payments through clearing houses in the second week of September were 22.5 per cent larger than in 1892, and for two weeks 12 per cent larger. From these and railway returns and such trade reports as are instructive, it must be concluded that much more business is being done than in the best of past years, though not always with much profit.

Wheat has come forward much more freely, and the price has advanced 2

The slight yielding in corn was due rather to the government report.

With the starting of 19 furnaces, idle a month ago, partly not included as yet, the weekly output Sept. 1 was 213,043 tons, against 206,777 Aug. 1, and the decrease in stocks 116,929 tons in two months indicates a consumption but littie below 1,000,000 tons per month. Structural work is the heaviest ever known at Pittsburg, though smaller than last year at New York. Bar mills are crowded with the general railway demand for automatic couplers and orders for new cars, 800 for one road, and a large order for street cars in Japan, and plate mills are everywhere crowded. The demand for pipe is the largest for a long time and also for boiler tubes, and the sheet mills are crowded west of Philadelphia, while the foundry consumption is heavy and the rail mills not yet ready to accept orders which they cannot deliver for months, being engaged far ahead. Woolen mills represent rather better orders, although much machinery is idle, those who have not old wool bidding much below the current prices, which are so far maintained that sales for two weeks have been only 6,635,300 pounds, against 36,629,400 last year and 17.015.100 in the same wee pounds Australian wool was sold at Boston for shipment to Europe.

Failures for the week have been 174 in the United States against 204 last year, and 23 in Canada against 40 last

RELIEF FUND RAISED.

West Indian Harricane-A Number Killed.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Sept. 17.-The hurricane of Sunday was undoubtedly one of the worst visitations of the kind experienced by the West Indies during the century, both in violence and extent. The hurricane swept along the island chain, from Barbados westward to St. Vincent and thence northwest to St. Kitts, where it was last heard from.

Details received from St. Vincent show that out of a population of 41,000 300 were killed and 20,000 were injured and rendered homeless. Besides this, owing to the complete destruction of the provisions they were all starving.

Relief funds are being raised in response to an appeal from the governor St. Vincent, where all descriptions of food and clothing and other necessaries were lost in the general destruction. There is demand for building materials.
